EIGHT KILLED, SCORE HURT IN SHIP EXPLOSION

VESSEL IN BETHLEHEM DRY DOCK

AT BETHLEHEM SHIPBUILDING COMPANY'S PLANT NEAR BALTIMORE

BLAST BLOWS OUT SIDE OF SHIP.
NORWEGIAN OIL TANKER, MANTILLA

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 19.—(UP)—
At least eight men are known to have been killed and perhaps a score injured in an explosion aboard a ship in port at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company's plant at Sparrow's Point today.

Every ambulance in Baltimore has been summoned to the scene.

Six of the injured are reported en route to Maryland general hospital in ambulances and commandeered automobiles.

The explosion blew out the side of the ship, Norwegian oil tanker, Man-tilla, and started a fire which it is believed will burn the vessel to the water line.

Sparrow's Point fire and police departments, the Bethlehem company's privately maintained fire department and the fire boat Torrent are fighting the flames.

One report had it that those who escaped injury are imprisoned aboard the burning ship, cut off from escape by the flames.

The sound of the explosion could be heard for miles.

Those killed and injured were aboard the vessel making repairs, she having been taken to port for that purpose.

Information given by local marine officials was that 21 men had lost their lives. This report was partially confirmed by plant officers who said it was feared eight to ten men were still inside the burning vessel.
There was little if any hope they would be rescued.

Spectators reported that most of the men were carried from the ship with some of their limbs missing and their bodies otherwise horribly mangled.

The injured were either workmen at the Bethlehem shipbuilding company's yards or men of the Mantilla's crew.

The explosion occurred at 11:45 o'clock. The firemen were still at work at 1:30 and it was not known then whether all of the victims had been removed from the shattered ship.

Physicians said some of the injured probably would die.

The blast ripped great holes in both sides of the vessel's steel hull.
The cause of the explosion was not learned.

Some of those killed and injured were working inside the vessel. Others were working on a scaffold on the outside of the hull.

When the explosion occurred the men on the scaffold were hurled 20 feet to the ground.

The Bethlehem Steel Company's dispensary at Sparrow's Point was overtaxed and reservations were made at Baltimore hospitals for the most seriously injured.

INJURED ESTIMATED

TO RUN FROM 21 TO 41

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 19.—The Norwegian oil tanker Mantilla blew up at her dock at Sparrow's Point today while scores of men were working aboard her.

Flames from the thousands of gallons of oil in the vessel's tanks spread from stem to stern after the explosion and a heavy loss of life was feared.

Eight bodies had been brought out two hours later. The maritime bureau estimates the dead at 21 to 25.

An ambulance driver, returning to Baltimore with injured men, said he thought 40 were dead and that many men were trapped in the white-hot hold. His report was entirely unconfirmed from other sources. Plant officials refused to estimate the number of dead, although they believed it was more than eight.

Best estimates placed the injured
at 21 to 41.

Firemen after fighting the flames and billowing black smoke for hours had the fire out this afternoon and the hull was being searched for bodies as fast as rescue workers could penetrate the still hot interior.

It was reported that a preliminary check showed 17 men missing in addition to the eight bodies recovered and the injured in hospitals.

DISCOURAGED, NO JOB, SHOTS AND KILLS HIMSELF

Minneapolis, Nov. 19.—(UP)— Discouraged because he lost his position with a bank at Marble, Minn., and unable to find employment in the Twin Cities, Louis Si-cord, 47, shot and killed himself in a hotel here Thursday at the same moment that P. N. Bisso-nette, his brother-in-law, knocked at the door for admittance. Sicked room without indicating his purpose.

GRIPPED BY SEASON'S FIRST COLD WAVE

MIDDLE WEST BLANKETED UN-DER SEVERAL INCHES OF SNOW

WEATHER BUREAU OFFERS NO RELIEF IN ITS PREDIC-TIONS

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Gripped
by the season's first really cold wave and blanketed under several inches of snow, the middle west continued to suffer today from snow flurries and wintry winds.

As the day dawned with the thermometer hovering in or below the twenties in some sections, the weather bureau offered no relief in its predictions.

The forecasts promised continued cold and snow flurries with the disturbance assuming proportions of a real winter cold wave in some spots.

Already in several places the snow has reached a depth of eight inches and street car lines and traffic are tied up in many city streets.

Storm warnings have been displayed on all the Great Lakes where the waves have been high for several days.

Central Illinois seems to have been hit by the heaviest snow fall. At Peoria more than seven inches of snow covers the city and street car traffic is disrupted. Moline is covered by eight inches of a white blanket.

In central Minnesota a six inch snowfall was drifted by high, cold winds until at present in some places the highways are covered by five feet of snow.

A continuous 24 hour snowfall in Baraboo, Wis., has tied up practically all traffic.

Air mail service over the section was delayed. A Chicago to Dallas plane was halted at Winfield, Iowa, and another plane on a trial trip from Detroit to Dallas, Texas, was forced down at Moline, Ill.

The snowfall has been accompanied by winds of almost gale proportions in many sections.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 19.—Wisconsin today was in the grip of wintry blasts with wire communications in parts of the state hampered and railroads and interurban service slowed down.

Northern Wisconsin was hardest hit with telephone and telegraph lines down as the result of snow and sleet, which has fallen during the past two days.

Snow fell generally over the state throughout the night.

While telephone and telegraph companies report their main lines practically intact they indicate many of their branch lines are down and that a number of poles snapped under the weight of the snow and sleet.

Train service out of the north was slowed down and both the St. Paul and Northwestern routes were running behind schedule.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Nov. 19.— Hundreds of telephone poles and long stretches of telegraph and telephone wires are down in this section of the state as the result of the snow and sleet storm, which swept this section during the week. All communications to outside points were delayed and trains were running behind schedule.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 19.—(UP)—
The oldest bootlegger in Minnesota is Mike Wiso, 31 of Duluth, who unwittingly sold a bottle of illicit liquor to a police agent, pleaded guilty in municipal court and now is serving a 60 day sentence on the St. Louis county work farm.

Governor Lays Down Platform For Two Day Highway Safety Conference to Follow Briefly

MRS. GIBSON WITHDRAWS FROM SCENE

"I'VE TOLD THE TRUTH, SO HELP ME, GOD," SHE SAID IN THE HALL-MILLS CASE

IDENTIFIED 3 DEFENDANTS AS HAVING BEEN AT OR NEAR MURDER SCENE

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Court House, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 19.—The featured player in the Hall-Mills trial has withdrawn from the scene.

The long anticipated appearance of Mrs. Jane Gibson has passed into history and her final "I've told the truth, so help me, God—and you know it!" has left the trial of Mrs.
Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, in an anti-climatic state.

Senator Alexander Simpson, who is prosecuting the trio on charges of having slain, four years ago, the Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall and his sweetheart, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, still has several witnesses to call before resting his case today but memory of Mrs. Gibson hung over the court room at the 13th day of the trial.

Mrs. Gibson yesterday identified the three defendants as having been at or near the murder scene on the night of September 14, 1922, when Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were slain as they kept a tryst on the Phillips' farm near New Brunswick.

Today the witness, keeper of a pig farm, was back in a Jersey City hospital.

Court Room, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 19.—The state today began picking up the loose ends of its case against Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and Willie and Henry Stevens, her brothers, accused of murdering the Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Today's session of the trial opened with Miss Barbara Tough, Scottish maid in the Hall home, recalled once more to the stand.

"Did you ever see the straight, old fashioned razor, used by the rector, after the latter was murdered?" asked Simpson.

"I don't know."

The state has contended that Dr.
Hall's razor might have been used to cut the throat of Mrs. Mills.

Inspector John J. Underwood of Jersey City was the next witness.

Underwood who was in charge of the murder investigation of August 8 this year, testified in regard to the calling card of Dr. Hall found near the bodies. This card allegedly bears the finger prints of Willie Stevens.

Robert H. McCarter took up the cross examination. He quoted from testimony by Underwood on August 17 in which the inspector denied he ever had seen Philip Payne, editor of a New York newspaper, who, he said today, gave him the card in question.

Major C. H. Goddard, a fire arms expert, identified three cards bearing a series of photographs of bullets allegedly those that were found in the body of Mrs. Mills.

Counsel for defense objected because the photographs were taken by Goddard's late partner, a Mr.
Waite.

"Well, we can prove a detective gave the bullets to Waite," said Simpson.

The state was permitted to introduce for identification the photographs made by Waite.

Goddard then identified three cartridge shells as from the same .32 calibre automatic, A Colt automatic and Peters cartridges were used, he said.

Ferd Davis, Middlesex county detective, was called after Major Goddard had been excused.

The murder case was brought before Davis' office in 1922, when he was acting county detective, he said.

Simpson then handed a dark coat and scarf to Davis and he identified the apparel as Mrs. Hall's.

Davis said officers had gone to the Hall home for the articles after receiving certain information three weeks after the murder.

GIANT NAVY SEAPLANES OFF FOR PANAMA

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—(UP)—
The giant PN-10 navy seaplanes numbers 1 and 2 took off from the Philadelphia navy yard at 7:15 a.
m. today for Hampton Roads on the first leg of their flight to Panama. The PN-10's were under command of Commander H. T.
Bartlett.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 19.—(UP)—The navy's two PN-10 planes for the Panama non-stop flight reached Hampton Roads from Philadelphia safely today and continued their test flight without landing. This probably will last until five o'clock this afternoon.

The planes kept in touch with the air station and the tests apparently went smoothly up to early this afternoon.

$200,000 FIRE AT MILWAUKEE

PRODUCTS COMPANY
PLANT

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 19.—(UP)— Fire of undetermined origin last night swept through the Shellmar Products Company plant here and caused damage estimated at about $200,000.

The blaze spread through the building rapidly and for a time firemen experienced much difficulty in preventing the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings.

The blaze was discovered in the press room by one of the night crew.
He called other employees and they made an effort to extinguish the flames, but found their efforts futile.
When the fire department apparatus arrived the flames had a good start and it was impossible to save much of the building.

According to officials of the company machinery valued at $200,000 was ruined and the building worth $50,000 was entirely razed.

The Shellmar Company manufactures glassine paper wrapping products.

FREIGHT STEAMER DRIFTING IN STORM

PETER A. B. WIDENER IN DIS-TRESS IN LAKE SUPERIOR, OFF DULUTH

Duluth, Nov. 19.—(UP)—The freight steamer Peter A. B. Widener was believed to be disabled and drifting helpless in Lake Superior today, off Duluth. She lost her ruder Wednesday and has been at the mercy of the elements since, having drifted from the Rock of Ages, 100 miles distant. Her two anchors were reported dragging Thursday night.

Tugs were to put out from this port today to put lines on the vessel and tow her to port.

The Widener is a 7,054 ton freighter.

longing to Willie Stevens, was introduced. Simpson then produced several suits of clothing.

The bullets and shells were once more identified. Davis could not recall who brought them to his office.

Mrs. Theodore W. Donner, a sister of Dr. Hall, was the next witness.

David W. Nagle who was on the ferry boat to New York on which the funeral party of Dr. Hall proceeded September 18, 1922, then was called.

Nagle confirmed previous testimony of a hearse driver that there was a scratch on Mrs. Hall's face that day.

The state rested its case at 1:55
P. M. and the way was prepared for immediate beginning of the defense testimony.

MANY COUNTY AND MUNICIPAL OFFICERS ATTEND

RECKLESS DRIVING AND DRUNK-EN DRIVING TO BE PUNISH-ED SEVERELY

GREAT NEED IS FOR UNIFORM-ITY OF LAWS IN COM-MUNITIES

St. Paul, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Opposing some of the schemes which have been put forward for the regulating or automobiles and drivers in Minnesota, Governor Theodore Christan-son today laid down a platform for the two day highway safety conference to follow.

More than 200 county and municipal officials were expected to be registered for the conference late today including sheriffs, county attorneys, mayors, police chiefs and city attorneys.

High points of the governor's address were:

1. Suggestion that the laws be strengthened by making possible the revocation of an automobile license because of reckless driving as well as drunken driving and that sentencing of drunken drivers to jail be made compulsory.

2. Declaration that "the great need is for uniformity in laws and regulations governing motor vehicles on the highways, uniformity as between the states, but, still more important, uniformity among the various communities within the state."

3. Recommendation that there be "more rigid and impartial enforcement of the law" and a declaration that such "should remedy the existing situation."

4. Urge that newspapers give "pitiless publicity" to violators of automobile traffic regulations.

The governor expressed in firm terms his opposition to examination and licensing of individual drivers, establishment of any new state department to carry out the law and to compulsory automobile insurance.

Regarding the insurance he said that he believed "this would serve only to make more reckless those who are inclined to drive recklessly.
Besides, he said, "such legislation undoubtedly would mean a considerable increase in insurance rates."

The governor warned against putting "too much faith in the importance or adequacy of statistics," asserting that "you now have enough information; what is needed now is not more information but more action."

The address follows:

"I have no great faith in some of the remedies that have been proposed to make the highways more safe and one of these suggested remedies in which I do not believe is that which would require examination
and licensing of individual drivers.

"I believe that the cause of accidents is not the incompetence of drivers but their carelessness and frequently criminal recklessness.

"I believe a better remedy is to strengthen the law by making possible the revocation of the automobile license because of reckless driving as well as for drunken driving because I think this will prove more effective as a deterrent than will the revocation of the driver's license.

"I do not think that the people of Minnesota will stand for a law requiring even the hired men on every farm to take out a driver's license as well as every grown member of the family that happens to own an automobile.

"It is my sincere hope that this conference will take no action which will mean the establishment of any new state department. We have plenty now and to burn. Whatever new regulations may be made their enforcement should be placed in the hands of some existing department.

"Neither have I any faith in compulsory motor vehicle insurance because I believe that this would serve only to make more reckless those
who are inclined to drive recklessly.
Besides such legislation would un-

QUEEN MARIE JOURNEYS BACK TO NEW YORK

IS EXCITED BY MESSAGES RE-CEIVED FROM HOME-LAND

KING FERDINAND'S PHYSICAL CONDITION EXCITING ALARM

By JOHN MONTGOMERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Aboard Queen Marie's Train enroute to New York, Nov. 19.—Queen Marie today began her journey back to New York and Rumania.

Excited by the messages she has received from her country relating to the seriousness of King Ferdinand's physical condition, her majesty requested railroad and civic officials to expedite her passage to Bucharest in order that she might prevent any possible political demonstrations antagonistic to the present regime in case of her husband's death. According to present plans, Queen Marie will arrive in New York Saturday morning. She expects to leave immediately for Tuxedo Park, N. Y., where she will spend the time before the Berengaria sails at the home of Charles G. Mitchell, banker. Prince Nicholas will leave the train at Cincinnati to enjoy a visit to Detroit automobile plants. He plans to rejoin the party at New York after visiting Cleveland
Sunday.

CHARGED WITH MURDER, WOMAN EXPECTS A BABY

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Awaiting trial for the murder of her husband, Mrs. Frances Kowalowski today was at liberty from the Cook county jail on a short respite granted her in order that her expected baby would not be born in jail.

Chief Justice William J. Lindsay of the criminal court granted the few days freedom after hearing of her condition.

Mrs. Kowalowski, mother of nine children, is charged with having administered poison to her husband, because he had mistreated her.

doubtedly mean a considerable increase in insurance rates.

"The great need, in my opinion, is for uniformity of laws and regulations governing motor vehicles on the highways, uniformity as between states, but still more important of regulations among the various communities within the state.

"There are now altogether too many violations chargeable to ignorance on the part of motorists of the local regulations as to speed, arterial streets, stop signs and so forth, in other than their own localities.

"More rigid and impartial enforcement of law would remedy the existing situation. In this connection let me express the hope that legislation will be enacted which will compel the courts to sentence drunken drivers to jail without option of a fine.

"Another remedy that occurs to me is that of 'pitiless publicity.' If the newspapers of the entire state would join in giving all possible publicity, not only to the laws and regulations, but also to their violation, I believe this would be a effective deterrent.

"Don't put too much faith in the importance of adequacy of statistics.
You have now enough information.
What is needed is not more information but more action."

HENRY FORD URGES PROBE BE INSTITUTED

LIQUOR LADEN AIRPLANE SEIZ-ED AT AN AIRPORT EARLY TODAY

ALLEGED PILOT OF CRAFT HELD ON CHARGE OF ILLEGAL
TRANSPORTATION

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 19.—(UP)—
At the personal request of Henry Ford a sweeping investigation was launched here today into an alleged aerial rum running ring believed to have used his airport at Dearborn as a stopping off place between Canada and interior states.

The investigation was prompted by seizure of a liquor laden airplane at the airport early today and the arrest of P. W. Rodrick, alleged pilot of the craft, held on a charge of illegal possession and transportation. The seized plane bore the mark, "Lunkin Airport, Cincinnati."

Ford not only expressed indignation that his airport should have been misused by a guest aviator, according to Captain Ira H. Harmon, Michigan state police, who conducted the seizure, but urged every possible effort be made to "go to the bottom of this and find out who is behind it."

Carl W. Rodrick pleaded not guilty before Justice James Green at Dearborn when arraigned on a charge of illegal transportation of liquor. He was held under bond of $2,500 for hearing December 1.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 19.—Michigan state police early today seized an airplane laden with a cargo of alleged bootleg liquor at the Ford airport here and arrested Ralph Rod-rick, alleged pilot of the plane.

Officials of the port explained that the plane was not Ford property, and said its pilot had regularly "dropped in" for the past month to make use of the airport facilities.

WRIGHT AND DANCER LEAVE FOR CHICAGO

Minneapolis, Nov. 19.—(UP)—
For reasons of business and health
Frank Lloyd Wright and Mme. Olga
night and were due in Chicago today on a trip that will take the noted architect to opposite ends of the continent.

Permission to leave Minnesota was granted to them in St. Paul Thursday by Federal Judge John B. Sanborn. They face grand jury action here on charges of conspiracy to violate the Mann act. A condition of the order was that they hold themselves in readiness to return at any time to the Twin Cities if the proceedings demand their presence here.

Leaving Mme. Milanoff with friends in Chicago, Wright will proceed to New York to attend to business matters, according to his attorney, Eloi Bauers. Then he will return to Chicago and with his former housekeeper will go to California.

Although improved from the nervous collapse which followed her arrest with Wright, Mme. Milanoff remains in poor health, Bauers said, and it is deemed advisable she coalesce on the west coast.

U. S. TO SUPPORT DIAZ GOVERNMENT OF NICARAGUA

Washington, Nov. 19.—(UP)—
The United States government intends to support with its "good offices" the newly recognized Diaz government in Nicaragua.

While the state department emphasizes it has only pacific intentions in application of these offices, Marines will continue to remain at Bluefields.

The government's revelation of alleged Mexican interference in the Nicaraguan situation is variously interpreted by observers here. Some suggest the disclosures of Mexican arms running to the liberals presage a sterner tone toward Mexico in coming diplomatic moves.

VESSEL IN BETHLEHEM

DRY DOCK

AT BETHLEHEM SHIPBUILDING COMPANY'S PLANT NEAR BALTIMORE

BLAST BLOWS OUT SIDE OF SHIP, NORWEGIAN OIL TANKER, MANTILLA

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 19.—(UP)—At least eight men are known to have been killed and perhaps a score injured in an explosion aboard a ship in port at the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Company's plant at Sparrow's Point today.

Every ambulance in Baltimore has been summoned to the scene.

Six of the injured are reported en route to Maryland general hospital in ambulances and commandeered automobiles.

The explosion blew out the side of the ship, Norwegian oil tanker, Mantilla, and started a fire which it is believed will burn the vessel to the water line.

Sparrow's Point fire and police departments, the Bethlehem company's privately maintained fire department and the fire boat Torrent are fighting the flames.

One report had it that those who escaped injury are imprisoned aboard the burning ship, cut off from escape by the flames.

The sound of the explosion could be heard for miles.

Those killed and injured were aboard the vessel making repairs, she having been taken to port for that purpose.

Information given by local marine officials was that 21 men had lost their lives. This report was partially confirmed by plant officers who said it was feared eight to ten men were still inside the burning vessel. There was little if any hope they would be rescued.

Spectators reported that most of the men were carried from the ship with some of their limbs missing and their bodies otherwise horribly mangled.

The injured were either workmen at the Bethlehem shipbuilding company's yards or men of the Mantilla's crew.

The explosion occurred at 11:45 o'clock. The firemen were still at work at 1:30 and it was not known then whether all of the victims had been removed from the shattered ship.

Physicians said some of the injured probably would die.

The blast ripped great holes in both sides of the vessel's steel hull. The cause of the explosion was not learned.

Some of those killed and injured were working inside the vessel. Others were working on a scaffold on the outside of the hull.

When the explosion occurred the men on the scaffold were hurled 20 feet to the ground.

The Bethlehem Steel Company's dispensary at Sparrow's Point was overtaken and reservations were made at Baltimore hospitals for the most seriously injured.

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Gripped by the season's first really cold wave and blanketed under several inches of snow, the middle west continued to suffer today from snow flurries and wintry winds.

As the day dawned with the thermometer hovering in or below the twenties in some sections, the weather bureau offered no relief in its predictions.

The forecasts promised continued cold and snow flurries with the disturbance assuming proportions of a real winter cold wave in some spots.

While telephone and telegraph companies report their main lines practically intact they indicate many of their branch lines are down and that a number of poles snapped under the weight of the snow and sleet.

Train service out of the north was slowed down and both the St. Paul and Northwestern roads were running behind schedule.

Sturgeon Bay, Wis., Nov. 19.—Hundreds of telephone poles and long stretches of telegraph and telephone wires are down in this section of the state as the result of the snow and sleet storm, which swept this section during the week. All communications to outside points were delayed and trains were running behind schedule.

Duluth, Minn., Nov. 19.—(UP)—The oldest bootlegger in Minnesota is Mike Wiso, 81 of Duluth, who unwittingly sold a bottle of illicit liquor to a police agent, pleaded guilty in municipal court and now is serving a 60 day sentence on the St. Louis county work farm.

"I'VE TOLD THE TRUTH, SO HELP ME, GOD," SHE SAID IN THE HALL-MILLS CASE

IDENTIFIED 3 DEFENDANTS AS HAVING BEEN AT OR NEAR MURDER SCENE

By PAUL W. WHITE
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Court House, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 19.—The featured player in the Hall-Mills trial has withdrawn from the scene.

The long anticipated appearance of Mrs. Jane Gibson has passed into history and her final "I've told the truth, so help me, God—and you know it!" has left the trial of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, in an anti-climatic state.

Senator Alexander Simpson, who is prosecuting the trio on charges of having slain, four years ago, the Rev. Dr. Edward W. Hall and his sweetheart, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, still has several witnesses to call before resting his case today but memory of Mrs. Gibson hung over the court room at the 13th day of the trial.

Mrs. Gibson yesterday identified the three defendants as having been at or near the murder scene on the night of September 14, 1922, when Dr. Hall and Mrs. Mills were slain as they kept a tryst on the Phillips' farm near New Brunswick.

Today the witness, keeper of a pig farm, was back in a Jersey City hospital.

Court Room, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 19.—The state today began picking up the loose ends of its case against Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and Willie and Henry Stevens, her brothers, accused of murdering the Rev. Dr. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Today's session of the trial opened with Miss Barbara Tough, Scottish maid in the Hall home, recalled once more to the stand.

"Did you ever see the straight, old fashioned razor, used by the rector, after the latter was murdered?" asked Simpson.

"I don't know."

The state has contended that Dr. Hall's razor might have been used to cut the throat of Mrs. Mills.

Inspector John J. Underwood of Jersey City was the next witness.

Underwood who was in charge of the murder investigation of August 8 this year, testified in regard to the calling card of Dr. Hall found near the bodies. This card allegedly bears the finger prints of Willie Stevens.

Robert H. McCarter took up the cross examination. He quoted from testimony by Underwood on August 17 in which the inspector denied he ever had seen Philip Payne, editor of a New York newspaper, who, he said today, gave him the card in question.

Major C. H. Goddard, a fire arms expert, identified three cards bearing a series of photographs of bullets allegedly those that were found in the body of Mrs. Mills.

Counsel for defense objected because the photographs were taken by Goddard's late partner, a Mr. Waite.

"Well, we can prove a detective gave the bullets to Waite," said Simpson.

The state was permitted to introduce for identification the photographs made by Waite.

Goddard then identified three cartridge shells as from the same .32 calibre automatic. A Colt automatic and Peters cartridges were used, he said.

Ferd Davis, Middlesex county detective, was called after Major Goddard had been excused.

The murder case was brought before Davis' office in 1922, when he was acting county detective, he said.

Simpson then handed a dark coat and scarf to Davis and he identified the apparel as Mrs. Hall's.

Davis said officers had gone to the Hall home for the articles after receiving certain information three weeks after the murder.

SEAPLANES OFF
FOR PANAMA

Philadelphia, Nov. 19.—(UP)—The giant PN-10 navy seaplanes numbers 1 and 2 took off from the Philadelphia navy yard at 7:15 a. m. today for Hampton Roads on the first leg of their flight to Panama. The PN-10's were under command of Commander H. T. Bartlett.

Norfolk, Va., Nov. 19.—(UP)—The navy's two PN-10 planes for the Panama non-stop flight reached Hampton Roads from Philadelphia safely today and continued their test flight without landing. This probably will last until five o'clock this afternoon.

The planes kept in touch with the air station and the tests apparently went smoothly up to early this afternoon.

$200,000 FIRE
PRODUCTS COMPANY
PLANT

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 19.—(UP)—Fire of undetermined origin last night swept through the Shellmar Products Company plant here and caused damage estimated at about $200,000.

The blaze spread through the building rapidly and for a time firemen experienced much difficulty in preventing the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings.

The blaze was discovered in the press room by one of the night crew. He called other employees and they made an effort to extinguish the flames, but found their efforts futile. When the fire department apparatus arrived the flames had a good start and it was impossible to save much of the building.

According to officials of the company machinery valued at $200,000 was ruined and the building worth $50,000 was entirely razed.

The Shellmar Company manufactures glassine paper wrapping products.

OFF DULUTH

Duluth, Nov. 19.—(UP)—The freight steamer Peter A. B. Widener was believed to be disabled and drifting helpless in Lake Superior today, off Duluth. She lost her rudder Wednesday and has been at the mercy of the elements since, having drifted from the Rock of Ages, 100 miles distant. Her two anchors were reported dragging Thursday night.

Tugs were to put out from this port today to put lines on the vessel and tow her to port.

The Widener is a 7,054 ton freighter.

longed to Willie Stevens, was introduced. Simpson then produced several suits of clothing.

The bullets and shells were once more identified. Davis could not recall who brought them to his office.

Mrs. Theodore W. Donner, a sister of Dr. Hall, was the next witness.

David W. Nagle who was on the ferry boat to New York on which the funeral party of Dr. Hall proceeded September 18, 1922, then was called.

Nagle confirmed previous testimony of a hearsay driver that there was a scratch on Mrs. Hall's face that day.

The state rested its case at 1:55 P. M. and the way was prepared for immediate beginning of the defense testimony.

RECKLESS DRIVING AND DRUNKEN DRIVING TO BE PUNISHED SEVERELY

GREAT NEED IS FOR UNIFORMITY OF LAWS IN COMMUNITIES

St. Paul, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Opposing some of the schemes which have been put forward for the regulating or automobiles and drivers in Minnesota, Governor Theodore Christianson today laid down a platform for the two day highway safety conference to follow.

More than 200 county and municipal officials were expected to be registered for the conference late today including sheriffs, county attorneys, mayors, police chiefs and city attorneys.

High points of the governor's address were:

1. Suggestion that the laws be strengthened by making possible the revocation of an automobile license because of reckless driving as well as drunken driving and that sentencing of drunken drivers to jail be made compulsory.

2. Declaration that "the great need is for uniformity in laws and regulations governing motor vehicles on the highways, uniformity as between the states, but, still more important, uniformity among the various communities within the state."

3. Recommendation that there be "more rigid and impartial enforcement of the law" and a declaration that such "should remedy the existing situation."

4. Urge that newspapers give "pitiless publicity" to violators of automobile traffic regulations.

The governor expressed in firm terms his opposition to examination and licensing of individual drivers, establishment of any new state department to carry out the law and to compulsory automobile insurance.

Regarding the insurance he said that he believed "this would serve only to make more reckless those who are inclined to drive recklessly. Besides, he said, "such legislation undoubtedly would mean a considerable increase in insurance rates."

The governor warned against putting "too much faith in the importance or adequacy of statistics," asserting that "you now have enough information; what is needed now is not more information but more action."

The address followed:

"I have no great faith in some of the remedies that have been proposed to make the highways more safe and one of these suggested remedies in which I do not believe is that which would require examination and licensing of individual drivers."

"I believe that the cause of accidents is not the incompetence of drivers but their carelessness and frequently criminal recklessness."

"I believe a better remedy is to strengthen the law by making possible the revocation of the automobile license because of reckless driving as well as for drunken driving because I think this will prove more effective as a deterrent than will the revocation of the driver's license."

"I do not think that the people of Minnesota will stand for a law requiring even the hired men on every farm to take out a driver's license as well as every grown member of the family that happens to own an automobile."

"It is my sincere hope that this conference will take no action which will mean the establishment of any new state department. We have plenty now and to burn. Whatever new regulations may be made their enforcement should be placed in the hands of some existing department."

"Neither have I any faith in compulsory motor vehicle insurance because I believe that this would serve only to make more reckless those who are inclined to drive recklessly. Besides such legislation would un-

By JOHN MONTGOMERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Aboard Queen Marie's Train en route to New York, Nov. 19.—Queen Marie today began her journey back to New York and Rumania.

Excited by the messages she has received from her country relating to the seriousness of King Ferdinand's physical condition, her majesty requested railroad and civic officials to expedite her passage to Bucharest in order that she might prevent any possible political demonstrations antagonistic to the present regime in case of her husband's death. According to present plans, Queen Marie will arrive in New York Saturday morning. She expects to leave immediately for Tuxedo Park, N. Y., where she will spend the time before the Berengaria sails at the home of Charles G. Mitchell, banker. Prince Nicholas will leave the train at Cincinnati to enjoy a visit to Detroit automobile plants. He plans to rejoin the party at New York after visiting Cleveland Sunday.

CHARGED WITH MURDER, WOMAN
EXPECTS A BABY

Chicago, Nov. 19.—(UP)—Awaiting trial for the murder of her husband, Mrs. Frances Kowalowski today was at liberty from the Cook county jail on a short respite granted her in order that her expected baby would not be born in jail.

Chief Justice William J. Lindsay of the criminal court granted the few days freedom after hearing of her condition.

Mrs. Kowalowski, mother of nine children, is charged with having administered poison to her husband, because he had mistreated her.

It was believed that she would serve only to make more reckless those who are inclined to drive recklessly. Besides, he said, "such legislation undoubtedly would mean a considerable increase in insurance rates."

doubtedly mean a considerable increase in insurance rates.

"The great need, in my opinion, is for uniformity of laws and regulations governing motor vehicles on the highways, uniformity as between states, but still more important of regulations among the various communities within the state."

"There are now altogether too many violations chargeable to ignorance on the part of motorists of the local regulations as to speed, arterial streets, stop signs and so forth, in other than their own localities."

AT AN AIRPORT EARLY TODAYALLEGED PILOT OF CRAFT HELD
TRANSPORTATION

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 19.—(UP)—At the personal request of Henry Ford a sweeping investigation was launched here today into an alleged aerial rum running ring believed to have used his airport at Dearborn as a stopping off place between Canada and interior states.

The investigation was prompted by seizure of a liquor laden airplane at the airport early today and the arrest of P. W. Rodrick, alleged pilot of the craft, held on a charge of illegal possession and transportation. The seized plane bore the mark, "Lunkin Airport, Cincinnati."

Ford not only expressed indignation that his airport should have been misused by a guest aviator, according to Captain Ira H. Harmon, Michigan state police, who conducted the seizure, but urged every possible effort be made to "go to the bottom of this and find out who is behind it."

Carl W. Rodrick pleaded not guilty before Justice James Green at Dearborn when arraigned on a charge of illegal transportation of liquor. He was held under bond of $2,500 for hearing December 1.

Detroit, Mich., Nov. 19.—Michigan state police early today seized an airplane laden with a cargo of alleged bootleg liquor at the Ford airport here and arrested Ralph Rodrick, alleged pilot of the plane.

Officials of the port explained that the plane was not Ford property, and said its pilot had regularly "dropped in" for the past month to make use of the airport facilities.

WRIGHT AND DANCER LEAVE
FOR CHICAGO

Minneapolis, Nov. 19.—(UP)—For reasons of business and health Frank Lloyd Wright and Mme. Olga Milanoff left Minneapolis Thursday night and were due in Chicago today on a trip that will take the noted architect to opposite ends of the continent.

Permission to leave Minnesota was granted to them in St. Paul Thursday by Federal Judge John B. Sanborn. They face grand jury action here on charges of conspiracy to violate the Mann act. A condition of the order was that they hold themselves in readiness to return at any time to the Twin Cities if the proceedings demand their presence here.

Leaving Mme. Milanoff with friends in Chicago, Wright will proceed to New York to attend to business matters, according to his attorney, Eloi Bauers. Then he will return to Chicago and with his former housekeeper will go to California.

Although improved from the nervous collapse which followed her arrest with Wright, Mme. Milanoff remains in poor health, Bauers said, and it is deemed advisable she confalesce on the west coast.

100 LEGION MEMBERS TAKE PART IN RALLY

Rufus J. Rand, State Commander of American Legion Stresses Conservation

TWO DRUM CORPS ATTENDED

Duck Banquet Given; Guests of Outside Posts Were in Attendance

Ducks, browned and prepared to a point of delicacy to satisfy the most fastidious, real home like dressing; creamy mashed potatoes, gravy, jelly, peas, celery, olives, coffee and top of it all ice cream and cake, greeted 100 members of the Brainerd American Legion, doughboys of the great war, as they sat down at rows of tables last evening at the yearly rally of the American Legion in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

And did the boys do justice to this great feast? Well that question is superfluous. But they certainly did. And there was duck and plenty of it for everybody.

Music, plenty of it too, happy war time songs, entertainment and speeches, followed in the course of the evening to make it one of the greatest rallies the boys of the Legion have had here for a long time.

Trust the boys of the Legion to wind up the affair in good style. Following the banquet and entertainment in the Chamber of Commerce rooms, the boys marched in a body headed by the Staples drum corps and the Crosby drum corps, throughout the business district of the city.

The newly organized drum corps of Staples in a grand array of splendor in striking uniforms presented a drill parade on Sixth and Laurel streets before the banquet.

The uniforms and equipment of the drum corps cost $2,000, members of the corps stated.

The Crosby drum corps winners of the competition at the Aitkin district meet were also in attendance at the rally and received a big hand.

The ducks for the banquet were shot by Bert Orne and Dr. B. E. Norquist and others.

Carl Flow and Al Kavli, of Minneapolis, were called upon several times to render duet song selections.

The address of welcome was made by Commander Harold Nelson of the local post who welcomed guests from outside posts which included Staples, Crosby, Duluth, Pillager. He paid compliments to the two drum corps in attendance.

A three piece orchestra furnished good music during the banquet.

Commander Fox, of the G. A. R. gave a short address, relating some of his experiences in the civil war.

Basil T. Heath ably filled the position given to him—that of toastmaster of the evening.

Thomas Donlin, commander of the St. Cloud post gave a short address which was followed by Mike Murray, commander of the Sixth district who told of the progress of the American Legion during the past year.

Rufus Rand, state commander of the American Legion was the principal speaker of the evening. Mr. Rand saw service with the Lafayette flying corps of France since the commencement of the war in 1914 when he left Harvard university to enlist in service in the war. He told of the part that Minnesota took in the national American Legion convention at Philadelphia.

Giving his hearers a "cross section" of what the Legion is trying to do, Mr. Rand declared the organization has a conservation program for natural resources, youth, rights and liberty, and the American Legion itself.

He dwelled particularly on the Minnesota conservation program and said the Legion was largely responsible for the carrying of the reforestation amendment. He painted a word picture of Minnesota as the merchant who advertised goods and did a flourishing business but failed to restock his shelves.

Youth must be conserved, Mr. Rand stated, so that it may "carry on" when members of the Legion step out of active participation in the world's affairs. He recommended sponsoring of the Boy Scout movement. Rights and liberties may be maintained by 100 per cent use of the ballot, he declared, and added that enforcement of that obligation was one of the outstanding duties of the Legion.

As to conserving the American Legion, Mr. Rand continued, the organization must remain strong through its membership or must turn its back to the wind and allow the wind to carry away the "dead" ones, getting the Legion down to a solid basis and developing it into an organization, which those eligible will strive to get into.

Mr. Rand reminded his audience that Minnesota stands second in the nation in 1927 Legion membership and said that the state is going after first honors next year.

BRAINERD 25 YEARS AGO

From the Daily Dispatch

Nov. 19, 1901

The Brainerd Marine band will give a dance this evening in Walker hall. President De Forest has secured the services of Prof. Bartch and he will play with the Marine orchestra which will furnish music for the dance. Lunch will be served at 12 o'clock.

T. Lukens of Verndale, father of Amos and Gilbert Lukens is visiting in the city for a day or two.

About a dozen friends of Mr. and Mrs. George Forsythe walked in on them last night at their home in East Brainerd and gave them a genuine surprise the evening being the thirty-fourth anniversary of their wedding. A delightful evening was spent.

Alderman Fogelstrom leaves tomorrow for Staples where he will build an elevator for a Minneapolis elevator company. He goes from there to Little Falls for the same purpose when he completes his work at Staples.

M. N. Rogers of Minneapolis organizer for the state federation of labor met quite a representative gathering of the laboring men of the city last night in Trades and Labor assembly hall. It was an open meeting although a special invitation had been extended to men of the different crafts which naturally come under the laboring head.

No permanent organization of labor was perfected although it is thought that Mr. Rogers efforts last night will bear fruit in the future. The carpenters made preliminary arrangements and they will organize under the carpenters Brotherhood head at a meeting to be held on Thursday evening.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES

Rev. Fernlund to Speak on the Bible at 1st Baptist Church Tonight

The last of the evangelistic services for the week will be held at the First Baptist church this evening. Rev. Fernlund will speak on the subject "The Bible, Is It the Word of God."

It is hoped that there will be a large attendance this evening. There will be special musical attractions which will make the program interesting to all. The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting.

UNION THANKSGIVING

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA "PIONEER HOMECOMING"

"PIONEER HOMECOMING," which marks the 58th anniversary of homecoming at the University of Minnesota, will be attended by 55,000 alumni, students and friends, it was estimated by officials on the eve of the Minnesota-Michigan football classic.

The first big celebration in honor of the returned sons and daughters of Minnesota will be the alumni banquet, this evening on the campus. Dr. Clarence Spears and Coach Fielding Yost, mentors of the Gopher and Wolverine football teams will head the list of speakers. Stars of former years, including Howard T. Abbott, Duluth, who captained both Michigan and Minnesota eleven nearly forty years ago, will be on the program.

The Brainerd Dispatch addressed a letter to Andrew R. Cass, Route 4, Brainerd, for a short expression of greeting. Mr. Cass is one of the oldest of the alumni of the University of Minnesota. He graduated at a time when there was no football team in existence. At last year's ceremonies Mr. Cass was made much of and given an honored place. He was photographed and mentioned in all the Twin City papers.

Close upon the banquet feast 15,000 persons will gather in a campus pep fest and bonfire when cheer leaders will teach the old grads the new yells. The University band dressed in uniforms of gold and maroon will end the demonstration with "Hail Minnesota."

Saturday morning a parade with floats representing every sorority and fraternity will march around the campus. A collegiate Ford contest, open to students and outsiders, will be held in connection with the parade. All fraternities and sororities will hold open house during both days.

Dedication ceremonies for the Memorial tablet at the processional entrance to the Stadium and the Engineering flagpole will be held preceding the game. The tablet will be erected in honor of the World War soldiers of the state.

Following the football game, the "Little Brown Jug" will be presented to the victors at a banquet for the players. Another banquet, open to the students and the general public will be held at the Minnesota Union. The celebration will close with a carnival dance at the armory.

In keeping with the pioneer spirit of the homecoming program the parade and stunts during the two days celebration will be staged in the garb and customs of forty years ago. Hoopskirts, beaver hats, antique horse drawn vehicles and other relics of by-gone years will be everywhere in evidence. A trophy will be awarded to the oldest graduate who returns to the campus.

We are glad to note that the general public is recognized and invited to the banquet at the Minnesota Union. The general public includes a lot of us not University of Minnesota graduates, but who, nevertheless, take a deep interest in that institution by paying the taxes which indirectly assist in its support, maintenance and extension.

POLICEWOMEN WANTED

In a message from the Postoffice Department, the Brainerd Dispatch is advised that the United States Civil Service Commission states that the Police Department of the District of Columbia is in need of policewomen and that applications for the position will be received by the Commission until November 27.

The entrance salary is $1,800 a year. In one year the appointees will automatically advance to Class 2, salary $1,900 a year, and in three years to Class 3, salary $2,100 a year. They will then be eligible for promotion to the position of sergeant at a salary of $2,400 a year.

The examination will be held on a date soon after November 27. Application blanks may be obtained from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the postoffice in this city.

We gave publicity to this appeal for policewomen. It marks the further extension of women's activities. We do not know what the exact duties of the ladies will be, but if Crow Wing county has energetic, husky, young ladies yearning for a career mixed with a good salary and a chance for advancement in this profession, they should not be backward but should make application.

The policewoman of every home is Ma, and the District of Columbia recognizes the fact that every woman has natural eye for order and law enforcement, for getting this done and making mere man walk the plank.

JUST A LINE, BUT IT MEANS A LOT

In the old days the State Highway Department road bulletin, mailed all newspapers of the state, contained a lot of data about Trunk Highway No. 27. It was paved to Little Falls, but from that point on until the recent Paving Celebration, the detour was used and it was like all other detours.

Now that this detour is buried, the Highway Department can be concise about the condition of Trunk Highway No. 27 by simply remarking:

"T. H. No. 27—St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd—66 miles—Paved."

That is a standing advertisement of a good paving, an "all the year around" highway. May we have more of them.

THE British coal stoppage, as they call it, or coal strike as we would term it, is still far from satisfactory settlement. Yesterday the Brainerd Dispatch carried two telegrams, one saying settlement was approaching and another giving the opposite view. The vote on acceptance of government offers seems to have been equally divided, a small majority voting against acceptance. The figures stood against acceptance 460,805, for acceptance 313,200.

GANG fighting in Illinois has all the earmarks of real old fashioned world warfare. Machine guns and airplanes are used. The tanks, however, are loaded with booze and not with shells.

RED caps are the prevailing color on the streets today. Hundreds of hunters are trekking through Brainerd inflamed with the idea that their hunting licenses entitles them to a deer a piece.

A PROPOSED cut in income taxes, to be retroactive, has caused almost as much commotion and argument in various political camps, as a proposed increase.

Don't Tell the Wife

BY WILLIAM B. COURTNEY

Copyright 1926 Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"DON'T TELL THE WIFE," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Ranny Forbes, star polo player, and his beautiful wife, Joan, are temperamental misfits. Joan wants a divorce, but Ranny confides to his chauffeur, Clay, that he loves her. He secretly discovers that she loves another man, Abner Gratman. Stivner, lumber king with whom Ranny has pending a gigantic business deal, wagers fifty thousand on Ranny's team in the International Match. Victory will mean business good will. Ranny learns that the wager is with—Abner Gratman! Abner, unobserved, maliciously cuts Ranny's stirrup strap, which causes Ranny to get nasty fall and kills his pony. Ranny suspects Abner—

"The less you're bothered the better, I guess. I'll be off and let you rest. Besides Mrs. Forbes doesn't need company now."

"Oh, far be it from me to dream that she finds my company as stimulating as yours," said Ranny drily. "I'm only her husband, you know."

Upon a subject so touchy and delicate Abner had no desire to enter into a discussion. He departed hastily.

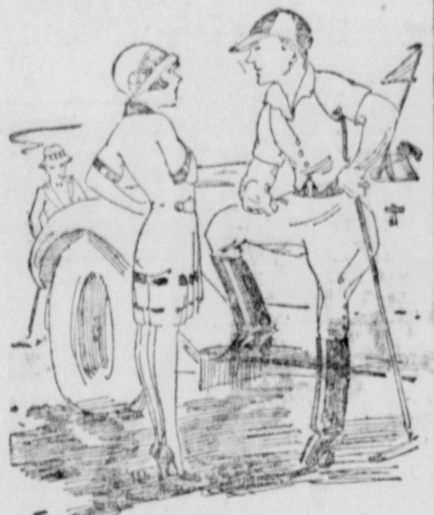

"Worm!" cursed Ranny under his breath.

"What did you say?" Joan started nervously.

"I said it's—warm!" sneered Ranny.

Joan agreed. Under the circumstances she would have agreed as readily had he said it were cold. For she was both cold and warm every time Ranny neared a mention of Abner or looked suspiciously wise. Like the old map search game in boarding school—this husband-lover jousting.

Moreover, Joan was womanly.

soft under her austere will; consequently she ignored all other side issues and anxiously inquired as to the nature and extent of her husband's bangs and bruises.

Ranny, being a man, interpreted this maneuver as the sure sign of a guilty conscience. Undoubtedly he had been too previous in thinking that his wife's virtue and the Rock of Gibraltar had one thing in common—impregnability!

The thought made him feel terribly abused.

"I wonder," he said, in a manner intended to be quite biting, although an involuntary groan when he turned a sore muscle detracted from the effect, "what your boy friend's rush was?"

Joan, being a woman, took refuge in a sarcastic defense. "I think the fall affected your head!"

"It didn't—cleared it up and gave me better vision of some things. I'm beginning to know who and where I am and what I'm up against," bitterly.

"Ranny Forbes, at just what are you driving?"

Joan was angry. Telltale fire points glowed in her eyes.

Ranny was angrier. Brimstone rasped in his voice.

"I'm just intimating that there's going to be a murder around here!" he threatened eloquently.

Joan's ejaculation and shrug were made of equal parts of annoyance and fear. She was prevented from retorting, however, by the hurried arrival of Livingston Stivner—solicitous, but wholly out of breath.

Ranny anticipated him with a bland smile. "My wife," he declared, "is ministering to my hurts so that I'll be fit to get into the next chucker."

Ranny beamed hypocritically upon Joan, who smiled with sweet malice. Then—Stivner never having met her—Ranny formally presented him to Joan.

Stivner, after assuring himself that Ranny's hurts were but superficial, launched into a preferred appreciation of his polo prowess, and dwelt for Joan's benefit upon what a wonderful thing it must be to have so outstanding an athlete for one's husband.

Both Guesses Wrong

A mother and daughter were listening to a band concert in the park. "What's this they're playing, Mary?" said the mother. "It sounds to me like Wagner." "No," remarked Mary. "I don't think it's Wagner. I think it's Mozart. I'll just go and see." On her return from the bandstand, she said: "We were both wrong. It says 'Refrain From Spitting!'"

Muscle Has Red Cells

The muscles of the human body, it has recently been discovered, are filled with a red coloring substance almost identical with that in the red blood cells of the blood. The amount of this red substance seems to determine largely the power of the muscle, and it disappears rapidly if the muscle is paralyzed, thus showing the importance of exercising in keeping the muscles in trim.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 19, 1926

UNIVERSITY OF MINNESOTA "PIONEER HOMECOMING"

"PIONEER HOMECOMING," which marks the 58th anniversary of homecoming at the University of Minnesota, will be attended by 55,000 alumni, students and friends, it was estimated by officials on the eve of the Minnesota-Michigan football classic.

The first big celebration in honor of the returned sons and daughters of Minnesota will be the alumni banquet, this evening on the campus. Dr. Clarence Spears and Coach Fielding Yost, mentors of the Gopher and Wolverine football teams will head the list of speakers. Stars of former years, including Howard T. Abbott, Duluth, who captained both Michigan and Minnesota eleven nearly forty years ago, will be on the program.

The Brainerd Dispatch addressed a letter to Andrew R. Cass, Route 4, Brainerd, for a short expression of greeting. Mr. Cass is one of the oldest of the alumni of the University of Minnesota. He graduated at a time when there was no football team in existence. At last year's ceremonies Mr. Cass was made much of and given an honored place. He was photographed and mention made of him in all the Twin City papers.

Close upon the banquet feast 15,000 persons will gather in a campus pep fest and bonfire when cheer leaders will teach the old grads the new yell. The University band dressed in uniforms of gold and maroon will end the demonstration with "Hail Minnesota."

Saturday morning a parade with floats representing every sorority and fraternity will march around the campus. A collegiate Ford contest, open to students and outsiders, will be held in connection with the parade. All fraternities and sororities will hold open house during both days.

Dedication ceremonies for the Memorial tablet at the processional entrance to the Stadium and the Engineering flagpole will be held preceding the game. The tablet will be erected in honor of the World War soldiers of the state.

Following the football game, the "Little Brown Jug" will be presented to the victors at a banquet for the players. Another banquet, open to the students and the general public will be held at the Minnesota Union. The celebration will close with a carnival dance at the armory.

In keeping with the pioneer spirit of the homecoming program the parade and stunts during the two days celebration will be staged in the garb and customs of forty years ago. Hoopskirts, beaver hats, antique horse drawn vehicles and other relics of by-gone years will be everywhere in evidence. A trophy will be awarded to the oldest graduate who returns to the campus.

We are glad to note that the general public is recognized and invited to the banquet at the Minnesota Union. The general public includes a lot of us not University of Minnesota graduates, but who, nevertheless, take a deep interest in that institution by paying the taxes which indirectly assist in its support, maintenance and extension.

POLICEWOMEN WANTED

In a message from the Postoffice Department, the Brainerd Dispatch is advised that the United States Civil Service Commission states that the Police Department of the District of Columbia is in need of policewomen and that applications for the position will be received by the Commission until November 27.

The entrance salary is $1,800 a year. In one year the appointees will automatically advance to Class 2, salary $1,900 a year, and in three years to Class 3, salary $2,100 a year. They will then be eligible for promotion to the position of sergeant at a salary of $2,400 a year.

The examination will be held on a date soon after November 27. Application blanks may be obtained from the secretary of the local board of civil service examiners at the postoffice in this city.

We gave publicity to this appeal for policewomen. It marks the further extension of women's activities. We do not know what the exact duties of the ladies will be, but if Crow Wing county has energetic, husky, young ladies yearning for a career mixed with a good salary and a chance for advancement in this profession, they should not be backward but should make application.

The policewoman of every home is Ma, and the District of Columbia recognizes the fact that every woman has natural eye for order and law enforcement, for getting this done and making mere man walk the plank.

JUST A LINE, BUT IT MEANS A LOT

In the old days the State Highway Department road bulletin, mailed all newspapers of the state, contained a lot of data about Trunk Highway No. 27. It was paved to Little Falls, but from that point on until the recent Paving Celebration, the detour was used and it was like all other detours.

Now that this detour is buried, the Highway Department can be concise about the condition of Trunk Highway No. 27 by simply remarking:

"T. H. No. 27—St. Cloud, Little Falls and Brainerd—66 miles—Paved."

That is a standing advertisement of a good paving, an "all the year around" highway. May we have more of them.

THE British coal stoppage, as they call it, or coal strike as we would term it, is still far from satisfactory settlement. Yesterday the Brainerd Dispatch carried two telegrams, one saying settlement was approaching and another giving the opposite view. The vote on acceptance of government offers seems to have been equally divided, a small majority voting against acceptance. The figures stood against acceptance 460,805, for acceptance 313,200.

GANG fighting in Illinois has all the earmarks of real old fashioned world warfare. Machine guns and airplanes are used. The tanks, however, are loaded with booze and not with shells.

RED caps are the prevailing color on the streets today. Hundreds of hunters are trekking through Brainerd inflamed with the idea that their hunting licenses entitles them to a deer a piece.

A PROPOSED cut in income taxes, to be retroactive, has caused almost as much commotion and argument in various political camps, as a proposed increase.

Don't Tell the Wife

Copyright 1926 Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc.
"DON'T TELL THE WIFE," starring Irene Rich, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

Ranny Forbes, star polo player, and his beautiful wife, Joan, are temperamental misfits. Joan wants a divorce, but Ranny refuses to let her. He secretly discovers that she loves another man, Abner Gratman. Stinner, lumber king with whom Ranny has pending a gigantic business deal, wagers fifty thousand on Ranny's team in the International Match. Victory will mean business good will. Ranny learns that the wager is with—Abner Gratman! Abner, unobserved, maliciously cuts Ranny's stirrup strap, which causes Ranny to get nasty fall and kills his pony. Ranny suspects Abner—

Abner, barely repressing a start of fright, dared make no more than a fleeting direct search of Ranny's impassive face; then he smiled nervously.

"The less you're bothered the better, I guess. I'll be off and let you rest. Besides Mrs. Forbes doesn't need company now." "Oh, far be it from me to dream that she finds my company as stimulating as yours," said Ranny dryly. "I'm only her husband, you know."

Upon a subject so touchy and delicate Abner had no desire to enter into a discussion. He departed hastily.

"Worm!" cursed Ranny under his breath.

"What did you say?" Joan started nervously.

"I said it's—warm!" sneered Ranny.

Joan agreed. Under the circumstances she would have agreed as readily had he said it were cold. For she was both cold and warm every time Ranny neared a mention of Abner or looked suspiciously wise. Like the old map search game in boarding school—this husband-lover jousting.

Moreover, Joan was womanishly soft under her austere will; consequently she ignored all other side issues and anxiously inquired as to the nature and extent of her lawful husband's bangs and bruises.

Ranny, being a man, interpreted this maneuver as the sure sign of a guilty conscience. Undoubtedly he had been too previous in thinking that his wife's virtue and the Rock of Gibraltar had one thing in common—impregnability!

The thought made him feel terribly abused.

"I wonder," he said, in a manner intended to be quite biting, although an involuntary groan when he turned a sore muscle detracted from the effect, "what your boy friend's rush was?"

Joan, being a woman, took refuge in a sarcastic defense. "I think the fall affected your head!"

"It did—cleared it up and gave me better vision of some things. I'm beginning to know who and where I am and what I'm up against," bitterly.

"Ranny Forbes, at just what are you driving?"

Joan was angry. Telltale fire points glowed in her eyes.

Ranny was angrier. Brimstone rasped in his voice.

"I'm just intimating that there's going to be a murder around here!" he threatened ominously.

Joan's ejaculation and shrug were made of equal parts of annoyance—and fear. She was prevented from retorting, however, by the hurried arrival of Livingstone Stinner—solicitous, but wholly out of breath.

Ranny anticipated him with a bland smile. "My wife," he declared, "is ministering to my hurts so that I'll be fit to get into the next chucker."

Ranny beamed hypocritically upon Joan, who smiled with sweet malice. Then—Stinner never having met her—Ranny formally presented him to Joan.

Stinner, after assuring himself that Ranny's hurts were but superficial, launched into a prefatory appraisal of his polo prowess, and dwelt for Joan's benefit upon what a wonderful thing it must be to have so outstanding an athlete for one's husband.

CHAPTER IV
Meanwhile, the balance of the third and the whole of the fourth chukkers had been fought out with hectic courage on both sides.

Drake, young and worthy son of a great polo father, had found Ranny's boots a big assignment to fill. But fill them he did; and due to his valor the score still remained tied at 1 to 1.

The pace had burned out the fire of his young strength, however; to strain and struggle stirrup to stirrup against the hard riding-off of the Argentines required something more than talent and instinct. It required the mature vigor and reserve vitality of a veteran—THE veteran, Ranny Forbes.

Ranny got out of the sedan at the beginning of the seven minute rest period between the fourth and fifth chukkers which marked the midway point of this tightest and greatest of international games. He tentatively stretched his limbs, and gingerly felt of his muscles.

"I'm sound!" he grunted triumphantly to Joan and Stinner and his teammates, who had trotted anxiously over to learn his mind. "Great!" cried Stinner. Then in a low and friendly conversational tone to Joan, the magnate went on, "I've wagered fifty thousand dollars on the ability of that good right arm of your husband's, and that trusty mallet of his, to keep the Cup in the United States!"

Joan—knowing how much the pending lumber deal meant to Ranny's ego as an ambitious, if leisurely, capitalist—managed to get him aside and whisper just before he started for the paddock:

"If I'm any judge of men, Ranny, this chap Stinner's attitude toward you in a business way will be helped if you win his bet for him."

To mollify the instinctive distaste she knew Ranny would have for anything involving his strictly amateur love of sport, Joan urged: "Of course, I know that for you the game's the thing, for sport's sake. But take a whack at the ball for the sake of ten million acres of lumber!"

Ranny might have trusted the honest interest in Joan's advice, if he had not unfortunately happened to see Abner Gratman standing near at hand, like a sly mouse, waiting for the tomcat to go away so that he could play with the tabby.

Ranny was no less an ass than all other jealous husbands. "Of course," he mocked icily. "I know that for you the week-end on the yacht is for yachting's sake alone, and not because the boy friend has been asked—"

All of which Joan listened to—without enthusiasm it is true, but with patience. Ever so much patience; even Ranny admired her for it. But when, out of feeling for her, he tried to turn Stinner's garrulity into other lines, the great magnate mistook his efforts for modesty and redoubled his praises. He had something of an eye for Joan himself, too—had Stinner. She was certainly not hard to look upon; her beauty and poise were as rare as Ranny's athletic perfection.

"I know," said Stinner smugly to Ranny, "that I've missed a good deal by not knowing your charming wife and yourself before this."

Ranny bowed his head gracefully, and stole a waggish look at Joan. Her eyes, however, were on Abner Gratman, in a group not far from the sedan.

Stinner, unconscious of the by-play, continued, now addressing Joan:

"But your husband and myself are about to consummate a deal, Mrs. Forbes, and I'm in hopes that we can combine business with pleasure and arrange the final interview during a week-end cruise on my yacht, when I hope to number you folks among my guests."

Ranny glowed with the out-of-door man's enthusiasm. He knew Stinner's yacht, "The Speedwell," not by personal experience but by common society hearsay. It was the last word in sporting luxury; the coolest, finest rich man's play-thing afloat finer even than Pierpont Morgan's "Corsair," on which Ranny had often been a guest.

He glanced at Joan, expecting her to be equally interested. Joan, however, was at that moment engaged in exchanging a long distance smile with Abner.

Stinner, still unconscious of the undercurrents, addressed Joan.

"I am getting up a lively party for this coming week-end, Mrs. Forbes. I'd be charmed to have you and Mr. Forbes—"

"Why, I—er—I—" hesitated Joan, ignoring a deft prod from Ranny's sharp-toed riding boot.

"We'll go outside the three, twelve, and fifteen miles limits," urged Stinner humorously, "and the crowd will be congenial, too. Just the sort you'll enjoy. I wonder if most of them aren't friends of yours. There's Abner Gratman, for instance—"

"We'll go!" said Joan eagerly. "Thanks a lot!"

"KING BEN," ENFEEBLED CULT LEADER

ATTENDING

HIS PLEA

Benton Harbor, Mich., Nov. 19.—After a harrowing two days not duplicated in Michigan's court history, "King" Benjamin Purnell, enfeebled leader of the House of David cult, today was confined to his private quarters here under the care of a physician.

Purnell is at liberty under bond of $125,000 to insure his presence on December 22 in criminal and civil court actions against him, the outgrowth of alleged immoralities and illegalities of the strange religious organization which he formed as "The Seventh Angel of the Israelites."

Late yesterday "King Ben" was dramatically brought into court on a stretcher to plead not guilty to a new warrant charging a statutory offense against Mrs. Bessie Daniel Woodworth, former member of his flock who led state troopers to his hiding place early Wednesday morning. The action followed evident anger on the part of Prosecuting Attorney George H. Bookwalter of Berrien county, at what he interpreted as possible efforts by members of the House of David to intimidate witnesses and dissuade further court action against "King Ben."

Shortly before Mrs. Woodworth yesterday signed the warrant which brought Purnell's latest arrest, Bookwalter announced, the complaining witness reported that a member of the colony had informed her that her mother, who is living at the House of David, was believed dying.

The subsequent efforts by Bookwalter to accompany Mrs. Woodworth with a physician to the cult headquarters to determine the degree of the woman's illness failed. The prosecutor announced he interpreted the incident as "not without significance." He warned cult leaders that proof of "any fake stuff" would result at once in prohibitive bail if necessary for "King Ben" and possible arrest of every member of the colony.

Presentation of "Lazybones" Last Evening Met With
Hearty Approval

Tonight the Augler Brothers stock company who are meeting with great approval from theatre lovers of Brainerd for their high class play productions at the Park theatre, will put on "Smilin' Trough," a play in three acts by Allan Langdon Martin.

Last night the company staged "Lazybones" and it was received joyously by the large assemblage in attendance.

"Smilin' Trough" is considered the feature play of the week.

The cast of characters in the order of appearance follows:

Sarah Wayne.....Margaret Hill
Mary Clara.....Ann Dene
John Carter.....Harrison Augler
Dr. Owen Harding.....Fred Herniman
Ellen.....Florence Roberts
Kathleen Dugannon.....

Louise Sherwood

Willie Ainley.....Hugh Lester

Kenneth and Jeremiah Wayne,

dual role by.....E. H. Fitzgibbons

Mooneyen Clare.....Louise Sherwood

On Saturday, the Augler Stock Company will present "Other People's Business," a comedy drama in three acts and on Sunday, the company will present "The Push." A Sunday matinee is being billed for "The Push" as well as the regular evening performance.

Grace for Digestion

A well-known doctor suggests that the practice of saying grace before a meal is good for the digestion. It is stated that the brief interval of calm during which grace is being said has the effect of soothing the mind.

The Wedding Fee

Wedding fees are to a minister's family what peanuts are to a monkey. Only the monkey translates the peanuts into energy, while the rector's family translates wedding fees into the most joyous and exciting things! Curtains for the parlor, porch swings, ice cream for Sunday dinner, a real new hat for mother and a pair of silk stockings for the family jointly, a new tire for the auto, and on one occasion false teeth, so long needed, for the rector himself.

HEDDA HOYT SAYS---

By HEDDA HOYT

JEWELS EXPRESS PERSONALITY

New York, Nov. 19.—(UP)—The quantity of jewels which a woman wears means nothing! Adorned with a million dollars worth of diamonds, a common looking woman merely looks vulgar in her display. The glittering of too many diamonds will even outglitter the personality of a beautiful woman.

After all, color is more important than cost if beauty jewelry is to be paramount. The woman who disregards expensive jewels, faddish jewels and so-called lucky stones in favor of jewels which add something to her own personality shows wisdom.

White jewelry including diamonds, pearls, white jade, crystal, etc., can be worn by anyone since white is a neutral tone. White, however, expresses very little of personality and it is better worn under electric lights than in daytime.

Auburn-haired women find reddish-brown and yellowish jewels flattering. Among these stones are carnelians, dark and light amber, yellow topaz and bronze-hued Malaga topaz. If the eyes are also reddish brown, jade, green, turquoise, aquamarine and amethyst might also be listed as suitable for the auburn-haired person.

Blends look best in pastel jewels such as pearls, rose quartz, coral, pale jade, crystal and turquoise. A pale blond is often alluring in amethyst and rubies. Dark-haired women wear jet, black crystal, white and highly colored stones well.

Women with grayish eyes fringed with black lashes may find a necklace of grayish agate flattering to the eyes. Topaz, amber and yellowish stones are becoming to green-eyed persons.

Gray-haired women should avoid white, pastels and dead shades since brighter colors or black add contrast to gray hair.

Jewelry that is worn near the face in the form of chokers, earrings

or brooches must be selected with regard to the coloring of the eyes and hair. Shades of blue, gray, brown or green deeper than the eyes add depth to the eye coloring. The colorful jewel that doesn't deepen the coloring of the eye or bring out the transparency of the complexion or the glow of the hair can not be called becoming. A single ruby

CLOCK-LIKE REGULARITY HIS REWARD

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
relieved constipation
of long standing

Mr. Charles R. Pollard, of Walworth, Wisconsin, will testify that habit-forming pills and drugs were even worse than useless in relieving his constipation.

"I am writing to tell you of the grand results I have received from using your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Before I commenced using your ALL-BRAN food I was obliged to take a laxative every night, and being a ruptured man aggravated this trouble and made it all worse. . . but since using your ALL-BRAN I have laid all my laxative medicine and pills away and my bowels are as regular as a clock."

CHARLES R. POLLARD,
Walworth, Wisconsin.

Don't let constipation drag you down, and don't become a slave to habit-forming pills and drugs. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, eaten regularly, is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your money is returned, because it is 100% bran. Eat two tablespoonsful daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Use it in cooking with the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere.

Kellogg's

worn on a white hand is more flattering than a quantity of more costly rings.

Garnets, emeralds, dark jades, and bright colorful stones demand colorful wearers. Opals, aquamarines, rose quartz, amethyst, agates in pastel shades look best on the more delicately colored women. Oriental jewels of many colors become women who are extremists in dress and colorings.

ATTENDING
HIS PLEA

Benton Harbor, Mich., Nov. 19.—After a harrowing two days not duplicated in Michigan's court history, "King" Benjamin Purnell, enfeebled aged leader of the House of David cult, today was confined to his private quarters here under the care of a physician.

Purnell is at liberty under bond of $125,000 to insure his presence on December 22 in criminal and civil court actions against him, the outgrowth of alleged immoralities and illegalities of the strange religious organization which he formed as "The Seventh Angel of the Israelites."

Late yesterday "King Ben" was dramatically brought into court on a stretcher to plead not guilty to a new warrant charging a statutory offense against Mrs. Bessie Danich Woodworth, former member of his flock who led state troopers to his hiding place early Wednesday morning. The action followed evidence of anger on the part of Prosecuting Attorney George H. Bookwalter of Berrien county, at what he interpreted as possible efforts by members of the House of David to intimidate witnesses and dissuade further court action against "King Ben."

Shortly before Mrs. Woodworth yesterday signed the warrant which brought Purnell's latest arrest, Bookwalter announced, the complaining witness reported that a member of the colony had informed her that her mother, who is living at the House of David, was believed dying. The subsequent efforts by Bookwalter to accompany Mrs. Woodworth with a physician to the cult headquarters to determine the degree of the woman's illness failed. The prosecutor announced he interpreted the incident as "not without significance." He warned cult leaders that proof of "any fake stuff" would result at once in prohibitive bail if necessary for "King Ben" and possible arrest of every member of the colony.

AT PARK THEATRE

Hearty Approval

Tonight the Augler Brothers stock company who are meeting with great approval from theatre lovers of Brainerd for their high class play productions at the Park theatre, will put on "Smilin' Through," a play in three acts by Allan Langdon Martin.

Last night the company staged "Lazybones" and it was received joyously by the large assemblage in attendance.

"Smilin' Through" is considered the feature play of the week.

The cast of characters in the order of appearance follows:
Sarah Wayne.....Margaret Hill
Mary Clara.....Ann Dere
John Carteret.....Harrison Augler
Dr. Owen Harding.....Fred Herniman
Ellen.....Florence Roberts
Kathleen Dugannon.....

Louise Sherwood
Willie Ainley.....Hugh Lester
Kenneth and Jeremiah Wayne,
Moonyeen Clare.....Louise Sherwood

On Saturday, the Augler Stock Company will present "Other People's Business," a comedy drama in three acts and on Sunday, the company will present "The Push." A Sunday matinee is being billed for "The Push" as well as the regular evening performance.

Grace for Digestion

A well-known doctor suggests that the practice of saying grace before a meal is good for the digestion. It is stated that the brief interval of calm during which grace is being said has the effect of soothing the mind.

The Wedding Fee

Wedding fees, are to a minister's family what peanuts are to a monkey. Only the monkey translates the peanuts into energy, while the rector's family translates wedding fees into the most joyous and exciting things! Curtains for the parlor, porch swings, ice cream for Sunday dinner, a real new hat for mother and a pair of silk stockings for the family jointly, a new tire for the auto, and on one occasion, false teeth, so long needed, for the rector himself.

HEDDA HOYT SAYS...

By HEDDA HOYT
JEWELS EXPRESS PERSONALITY
New York, Nov. 19.—(UP)—The quantity of jewels which a woman wears means nothing! Adorned with a million dollars worth of diamonds, a common looking woman merely looks vulgar in her display. The glittering of too many diamonds will even outglitter the personality of a beautiful woman.

After all, color is more important than cost if beauty jewelry is to be paramount. The woman who disregards expensive jewels, faddish jewels and so-called lucky stones in favor of jewels which add something to her own personality shows wisdom.

White jewelry including diamonds, pearls, white jade, crystal, etc., can be worn by anyone since white is a neutral tone. White, however, expresses very little of personality and it is better worn under electric lights than in daytime.

Auburn-haired women find reddish-brown and yellowish jewels flattering. Among these stones are carnelians, dark and light amber, yellow topaz and bronze-hued Malaga topaz. If the eyes are also reddish brown, jade, green, turquoise, aquamarine and amethyst might also be listed as suitable for the auburn-haired person.

Blonds look best in pastel jewels such as pearls, rose quartz, coral, pale jade, crystal and turquoise. An ash blond is often alluring in amethyst and rubies. Dark-haired women wear jet, black crystal, white and highly colored stones well.

Women with grayish eyes fringed with black lashes may find a necklace of grayish agate flattering to the eyes. Topaz, amber and yellowish stones are becoming to green-eyed persons.

Gray-haired women should avoid white, pastels and dead shades since brighter colors or black add contrast to gray hair.

Jewelry that is worn near the face in the form of chokers, earrings

or brooches must be selected with regard to the coloring of the eyes and hair. Shades of blue, gray, brown or green deeper than the eyes add depth to the eye coloring. The colorful jewel that doesn't deepen the coloring of the eye or bring out the transparency of the complexion or the glow of the hair can not be called becoming. A single ruby

CLOCK-LIKE REGULARITY HIS REWARD

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN
relieved constipation

Mr. Charles R. Pollard, of Walworth, Wisconsin, will testify that habit-forming pills and drugs were even worse than useless in relieving his constipation.

"I am writing to tell you of the grand results I have received from using your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. Before I commenced using your ALL-BRAN food I was obliged to take a laxative every night, and being a ruptured man aggravated this trouble and made it all worse... but since using your ALL-BRAN I have had all my laxative medicine and pills away and my bowels are as regular as a clock."

CHARLES R. POLLARD,
Walworth, Wisconsin.
Don't let constipation drag you down, and don't become a slave to habit-forming pills and drugs. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, eaten regularly, is guaranteed to relieve constipation or your money is returned, because it is 100% bran. Eat two tablespoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. Ready-to-eat with milk or cream. Use it in cooking with the recipes given on the package. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is made by Kellogg in Battle Creek, Michigan. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere.

Kellogg's

worn on a white hand is more flattering than a quantity of more costly rings.

Garnets, emeralds, dark jades, and bright colorful stones demand colorful wearers. Opals, aquamarines, rose quartz, amethyst, agates in pastel shades look best on the more delicately colored women. Oriental jewels of many colors become women who are extremists in dress and colorings.

MINNESOTA-MICHIGAN OUTSTANDING GAME

MIDDLEWEST SUCCESSFUL 1926 SEASON

By CLARK B. KELSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Nov. 19. — Football's most successful season in the Middle West will wind up tomorrow with the championship of the Western Conference at stake in two games.

The most outstanding of these two contests is the Minnesota-Michigan contest, where the Wolverines, who have beaten some of the best teams in the Big Ten, meet Minnesota, which lost to the Wolverines in the first game of the season.

Since then the Gophers have soared like meteors, they have beaten reputedly strong teams by overwhelming scores and last week ran up 81 points against Butler.

The Gopher hurdle will be harder for the Wolverines because they run into one of the toughest games in their schedule—save for the game they lost to the Navy—in Ohio last week. The Wolverines came out on the long end of a 17-16 score after one of the epic games of the season.

At Iowa City, Northwestern—with one of the great teams of the year—will meet Iowa, which has yet to win a Big Ten game this season.

The battle for the Hoosier state championship between Purdue and Indiana should go to the Boilermakers, if Purdue's chief ground gainer, "Cotton" Wilcox, gets up steam he showed in earlier games.

At South Bend, Coach Knute Rockne's potential national champions will work against Drake, a Missouri Valley conference team.

SPORT TABLOIDS

Balk Line Billiard Championship
New York — Kinney Maturano, national junior 18.2 balk line champion will meet Ary Bos, former titleholder in a return match in Philadelphia, November 29, 30 and Dec. 1.

Stadium and Athletic Field at Asbury Park
Asbury Park, N. J.—Construction of a stadium and athletic field at Asbury park next spring has been announced here. It will cost $100,000 and will have a seating capacity of from 5,000 to 7,000 persons.

Morgan to Meet Duane
New York—Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, will meet Carl Duane in a 15 round title bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Montreal Maroons 2, N. Y. Americans 0
New York — The Montreal Maroons, ice hockey champions, defeated the New York Americans, 2 to 0 at Madison Square Garden last night.

Western Conference Cross Country Run
Minneapolis — For the first time the annual western conference cross country meet will be held here Saturday morning. Wisconsin, which has won the Big Ten championship two years in succession, arrived late Thursday, the first group of runners to put in appearance.

A WOMAN'S LOGIC

Mrs. Jones cast an entirely new light—and, it may be, a wholly reasonable one—on the problem of woman's dress the other night. She and Mr. Jones were awaiting callers, and Mr. Jones surveyed her new gown rather critically. "Isn't it a little extreme?" he suggested. "A little short and low cut?"

"Well, I don't know," said Mrs. Jones, "they are coming to see me, aren't they—not the dress?"—Argonaut.

Sense of Superiority

"Why don't you go into politics?" "I am in politics," answered Miss Cayenne. "I cast a vote every time I have the opportunity."

"Why don't you run for office?" "I cling to the idea of feminine superiority. I prefer having a man requesting me to vote for him to being in a position where I would have to request him to vote for me."—Washington Star.

FEW CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES NEEDED

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York Nov. 19.—For the first time in a good many years, the forward pass may not be the principal target when the football rules committee meets this winter.

Unless something radically wrong develops before the end of the season, there will be very few targets for the rule makers to shoot at.

Football, as far as the actual playing rules are concerned, seems to be in a most healthful state but the code of ethics or the rules themselves may be worked on for the purpose of giving more protection to the officials.

The referee in the widely discussed game between the Army and Syracuse was slugged by a Syracuse player and open charges were made that Vic Schwartz, the referee, was prejudiced in favor of the Army.

This charge was singular owing to the fact that Syracuse actually picked Schwartz as the referee and this "official picking business" constitutes what the rules committee may determine to be a menace.

If it is a fact that many managers of college football games will not schedule certain games without the privilege of naming the officials, there certainly is a lack of elemental sportsmanship.

It might not be a bad idea if the rules committee could commission some kind of a central board of officials to name the referees and the umpires for the big games as organized baseball does with umpires. It would be a bulky job but it could be done and it would be worth at least an experiment.

The change made in the forward pass rule last winter to penalize a team five yards for every forward pass that was incomplete after the first trial hasn't caused much comment. Sufficient figures aren't available to say that it has been a success. But if it hasn't helped the game, it hasn't hurt it any.

Increase in the efficiency of line play and the development of the defense against the forward pass were two of the outstanding features of the game up to the mid-season mark.

Two of the greatest forward passing teams of 1925 were stopped dead in their first games this season against real opposition. Dartmouth was beaten first by Harvard and then by Brown because the forward pass attack was stopped.

Michigan, reputed to have perfected the overhead game to the point of invincibility, failed miserably to do anything against the Navy with the passing game and was decisively beaten.

Dartmouth no doubt was handicapped by the loss of Oberlander, Sage and Tully but Michigan had Friedman, Flora and Oosterbaan, the great trio that was responsible for the great 1925 record.

Bill Ingram, just out of Western conference football and coaching the Navy for the first time, stopped Michigan's air attack with a "man for man" defense. The Navy forwards and the secondary defense didn't glue their eyes on the ball. The defending players each had a man to watch and they watched them so closely that Friedman couldn't do his stuff.

Two men were assigned to Friedman and they did nothing else. When they couldn't get through quick enough to dump him they hurried him so that he couldn't get range or aim in his tosses.

Much has been made of the fact that Army, in drubbing Yale, didn't attempt a single forward pass. This doesn't mean, however, that Biff Jones, the new West Point coach, is a fundamentalist.

He was quick to see that he didn't need anything but straight football to beat a vastly overrated football team and he was smart enough to sense that Notre Dame eyes were peering at his Cadet squad and there was no necessity for him to show any trump cards on the field.

Some interesting views on training methods were disclosed recently by Tuss McLaughry, new football coach at Brown. He surprised the football world by beating Yale with the eleven men who started the game and the following week he sent his team against Dartmouth to another victory without making a substitution.

He said a minimum of scrimmage and tackling enabled his men to keep in such good condition that they could last through two entire games without a rest.

He said he hasn't asked his squad to engage in tackling practice after the first two weeks of the season and that he only made them scrimmage enough to keep them loose.

McLaughry also has a pet stunt of making his squad relax for a half an hour on cots after practice and drink a pint of fresh milk for refreshment.

EVEN OPINION ON FOOTBALL GAMES SATURDAY

PRICES QUOTED BY BETTING COMMISSIONS IN NEW YORK CITY

HARVARD AND YALE RECEIVE BULK OF ATTENTION IN THE EAST

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 19.—Prices quoted by the betting commissions in the financial district, where those with luck at picking C, make almost as much money these days off football as off the stock ticker, reflected today the even division of opinion on the most of the big games scheduled for tomorrow.

With the exception of a few games the tendency seemed to be to let the other fellow do the picking and bet that he is wrong. So far this season it has proved to be a good system.

Harvard and Yale have received the bulk of attention in the east because of the unknown quantity of the two teams and because it is the only game in the east where a wager ought to get a even run.

Yale is only a slight favorite in the betting and it is likely that by game time tomorrow money can be laid on either team at even money.

New Yorkers, with the first chances in years to demonstrate civic interest in a team were taking even money that the undefeated New York university, the youngest but one of the best teams in the east, would win from Nebraska at Lincoln.

Eight to five and a little better was offered that Michigan would beat Minnesota and that Northwestern would beat Iowa.

Ohio State was a 6 to 5 favorite to win from Illinois and Wisconsin was a 7 to 5 favorite to beat Chicago.

Notre Dame's team work in winning from the Army here last week

made Rockne's team a 3 to 1 favorite to beat Drake, as Drake did not make much of a showing against Navy earlier in the season.

Stanford was 9 to 5 favorite to win from California and the odds would have been higher on comparative records for the season if it was not taken into consideration that form does not count for everything in these old family battles.

Missouri for the same reason was a 7 to 5 favorite to win its annual game from Kansas.

Most of the southern and eastern teams will be out of action for the day, getting ready for Thanksgiving day games.

FAR NORTH PEOPLE TO HEAR ARCTIC PROGRAM OF KFKX

Hastings, Neb., Nov. 19.—(UP)—Inhabitants of the far north will catch up with the news of the world tonight when radio station KFKX will broadcast an arctic program from 9 p. m. to 4 a. m.

A one hour reading of a specially prepared resume of news of the world, assembled by the United Press, Hastings Tribune and Winnipeg Free Press will be given at 1 a. m. The resume will sketch what has happened since the last arctic program last winter.

The arctic program tonight will be the first of a series to be broadcast during the winter. Many letters from inhabitants of the far north were received here last summer expressing thanks for the programs last winter and reporting that many more radio sets have been installed in the arctic region this year in anticipation of this winter's program.

MIDDLEWEST SUCCESSFUL 1926 SEASON

By CLARK B. KELSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Nov. 19. — Football's most successful season in the Middle West will wind up tomorrow with the championship of the Western Conference at stake in two games.

The most outstanding of these two contests is the Minnesota-Michigan contest, where the Wolverines, who have beaten some of the best teams in the Big Ten, meet Minnesota, which lost to the Wolverines in the first game of the season.

Since then the Gophers have soared like meteors, they have beaten reputedly strong teams by overwhelming scores and last week ran up 81 points against Butler.

The Gopher hurdle will be harder for the Wolverines because they run into one of the toughest games in their schedule—save for the game they lost to the Navy—in Ohio last week. The Wolverines came out on the long end of a 17-16 score after one of the epic games of the season.

At Iowa City, Northwestern—with one of the great teams of the year—will meet Iowa, which has yet to win a Big Ten game this season.

The battle for the Hoosier state championship between Purdue and Indiana should go to the Boilermakers, if Purdue's chief ground gainer, "Cotton" Wilcox, gets up steam he showed in earlier games.

At South Bend, Coach Knute Rockne's potential national champions will work against Drake, a Missouri Valley conference team.

SPORT TABLOIDS

Balk Line Billiard Championship
New York — Kinsey Matsurama, national junior 18.2 balk line champion will meet Ary Bos, former titleholder in a return match in Philadelphia, November 29, 30 and Dec. 1.

Stadium and Athletic Field at Asbury Park
Asbury Park, N. J.—Construction of a stadium and athletic field at Asbury park next spring has been announced here. It will cost $100,000 and will have a seating capacity of from 5,000 to 7,000 persons.

Morgan to Meet Duane
New York—Tod Morgan, junior lightweight champion, will meet Carl Duane in a 15 round title bout at Madison Square Garden tonight.

Montreal Maroons 2, N. Y. Americans 0
New York — The Montreal Maroons, ice hockey champions, defeated the New York Americans, 2 to 0 at Madison Square Garden last night.

Western Conference Cross Country Run
Minneapolis — For the first time the annual western conference cross country meet will be held here Saturday morning. Wisconsin, which has won the Big Ten championship two years in succession, arrived late Thursday, the first group of runners to put in appearance.

A WOMAN'S LOGIC

Mrs. Jones cast an entirely new light—and, it may be, a wholly reasonable one—on the problem of woman's dress the other night. She and Mr. Jones were awaiting callers, and Mr. Jones surveyed her new gown rather critically. "Isn't it a little extreme?" he suggested. "A little short and low cut?"

"Well, I don't know," said Mrs. Jones, "they are coming to see me, aren't they—not the dress?"—Argonaut.

Sense of Superiority

"Why don't you go into politics?"
"I am in politics," answered Miss Cayenne. "I cast a vote every time I have the opportunity."

"Why don't you run for office?"
"I cling to the idea of feminine superiority. I prefer having a man requesting me to vote for him to being in a position where I would have to request him to vote for me."—Washington Star.

FEW CHANGES IN FOOTBALL RULES NEEDED

(United Press Sports Editor)
New York Nov. 19.—For the first time in a good many years, the forward pass may not be the principal target when the football rules committee meets this winter.

Unless something radically wrong develops before the end of the season, there will be very few targets for the rule makers to shoot at.

Football, as far as the actual playing rules are concerned, seems to be in a most healthful state but the code of ethics or the rules themselves may be worked on for the purpose of giving more protection to the officials.

The referee in the widely discussed game between the Army and Syracuse was slugged by a Syracuse player and open charges were made that Vic Schwartz, the referee, was prejudiced in favor of the Army.

This charge was singular owing to the fact that Syracuse actually picked Schwartz as the referee and this "official picking business" constitutes what the rules committee may determine to be a menace.

If it is a fact that many managers of college football games will not schedule certain games without the privilege of naming the officials, there certainly is a lack of elemental sportsmanship.

It might not be a bad idea if the rules committee could commission some kind of a central board of officials to name the referees and the umpires for the big games as organized baseball does with umpires. It would be a bulky job but it could be done and it would be worth at least an experiment.

The change made in the forward pass rule last winter to penalize a team five yards for every forward pass that was incompleated after the first trial hasn't caused much comment. Sufficient figures aren't available to say that it has been a success. But if it hasn't helped the game, it hasn't hurt it.

Increase in the efficiency of line play and the development of the defense against the forward pass were two of the outstanding features of the game up to the mid-season mark.

Two of the greatest forward passing teams of 1925 were stopped dead in their first games this season against real opposition. Dartmouth was beaten first by Harvard and then by Brown because the forward pass attack was stopped.

Michigan, reputed to have perfected the overhead game to the point of invincibility, failed miserably to do anything against the Navy with the passing game and was decisively beaten.

Dartmouth no doubt was handicapped by the loss of Oberlander, Sage and Tully but Michigan had Friedman, Flora and Oosterbaan, the great trio that was responsible for the great 1925 record.

Bill Ingram, just out of Western conference football and coaching the Navy for the first time, stopped Michigan's air attack with a "man for man" defense. The Navy forwards and the secondary defense didn't glue their eyes on the ball. The defending players each had a man to watch and they watched them so closely that Friedman couldn't do his stuff.

Two men were assigned to Friedman and they did nothing else. When they couldn't get through quick enough to dump him they hurried him so that he couldn't get range or aim in his tosses.

Much has been made of the fact that Army, in drubbing Yale, didn't attempt a single forward pass. This doesn't mean, however, that Biff Jones, the new West Point coach, is a fundamentalist.

He was quick to see that he didn't need anything but straight football to beat a vastly overrated football team and he was smart enough to sense that Notre Dame eyes were peering at his Cadet squad and there was no necessity for him to show any trump cards on the field.

Some interesting views on training methods were disclosed recently by Tuss McLaughry, new football coach at Brown. He surprised the football world by beating Yale with the eleven men who started the game and the following week he sent his team against Dartmouth to another victory without making a substitution.

He said a minimum of scrimmage and tackling enabled his men to keep in such good condition that they could last through two entire games without a rest.

He said he hasn't asked his squad to engage in tackling practice after the first two weeks of the season and that he only made them scrimmage enough to keep them loose.

McLaughry also has a pet stunt of making his squad relax for a half an hour on cots after practice and drink a pint of fresh milk for refreshment.

EVEN OPINION ON FOOTBALL GAMES SATURDAY

PRICES QUOTED BY BETTING COMMISSIONS IN NEW YORK CITY

HARVARD AND YALE RECEIVE BULK OF ATTENTION IN THE EAST

(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, Nov. 19.—Prices quoted by the betting commissioners in the financial district, where those with luck at picking C, make almost as much money these days off football as off the stock ticker, reflected today the even division of opinion on the most of the big games scheduled for tomorrow.

With the exception of a few games the tendency seemed to be to let the other fellow do the picking and bet that he is wrong. So far this season it has proved to be a good system.

Harvard and Yale have received the bulk of attention in the east because of the unknown quantity of the two teams and because it is the only game in the east where a wager ought to get a even run.

Yale is only a slight favorite in the betting and it is likely that by game time tomorrow money can be laid on either team at even money.

New Yorkers, with the first chances in years to demonstrate civic interest in a team were taking even money that the undefeated New York university, the youngest but one of the best teams in the east, would win from Nebraska at Lincoln.

Eight to five and a little better was offered that Michigan would beat Minnesota and that Northwestern would beat Iowa.

Ohio State was a 6 to 5 favorite to win from Illinois and Wisconsin was a 7 to 5 favorite to beat Chicago.

Notre Dame's team work in winning from the Army here last week

made Rockne's team a 3 to 1 favorite to beat Drake, as Drake did not make much of a showing against Navy earlier in the season.

Stanford was 9 to 5 favorite to win from California and the odds would have been higher on comparative records for the season if it was not taken into consideration that form does not count for everything in these old family battles.

Missouri for the same reason was a 7 to 5 favorite to win its annual game from Kansas.

Most of the southern and eastern teams will be out of action for the day, getting ready for Thanksgiving day games.

CHIEF SCOUT EXECUTIVE WEST HERE TOMORROW

SPEAKS TO BOYS AT DEPOT

Every Man and Woman Interested in Boys is Invited to Attend

Every active boy scout in and around Brainerd and vicinity is brushing up and cleaning his uniform in preparation to give a worthy greeting tomorrow evening to James E. West, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America upon his arrival here at six o'clock. All Scouts, past, present and future are asked to be at the station at 5:50 p. m. and give a rousing welcome to the "idol of three million boys" who has consented to make Brainerd the only city that he is visiting on his journey from Seattle, Wash., to St. Joseph, Mo.

As Mr. West will again continue his trip a few hours after his arrival here it is very imperative that all those who will attend the banquet be at the Chamber of Commerce at 6 o'clock sharp. The banquet is also so timed as to enable all business men to return to their places of business before closing hours.

Wilbur Van Evers, of Crosby, president of the Crow Wing Area Council of Boy Scouts will be the toastmaster and will introduce Carl Zapffe, first president of the Crow Wing Area and who, in turn, will introduce Mr. West, the honor guest of the evening. Special music has been prepared and an interesting time is assured.

Advance reports have it that Chief Executive West is a big, broad-shouldered man, having an ideal build for a football player. His eyes are clear and frank and betray the man's ability to size up a situation that needs immediate action and his heavy square jaw speaks of unlimited perseverance.

But notwithstanding the terrific strain under which he is constantly working he is ever the eternal boy. He loves his work, and as his task is concerned with the shaping of the destinies of young America, he must always be young and live and dream the way his charges do. No wonder they call him "the man who never grows up."

He was born an even hundred years after the country gained its liberty. May 16, 1876 is the exact date of his entrance into the mundane battle and Washington, D. C. was the place. So, obviously he started with decided American proclivities. He is the Goethals of American boyhood. He has been responsible for the building of more citizens than any other single individual. He has taken youngsters in the raw from the east and west and north and south, from the congested sections of the big cities and from the loneliest passes of the thickest mountain hamlets, from villages in Hawaii to the cities of the Atlantic coast and has welded them into solid Americanism.

In his boy scout work he has displayed a never flagging zeal, an enthusiasm, though he has never lost sight of the fact that the execution of a business as vast as the scout movement calls for the most subtle form of practical effort. He is aggressive, alert, able, energetic and resourceful. The extent of his working day is as great as the work which comes before him, and often, after making a mid-night get-away from his office, he will sit down to his desk in his home study and dig away at the pile of correspondence which had come to him during the day.

Every man and woman in the city of Brainerd is invited to attend the banquet, tickets may be purchased from Perry Newton, scout executive or at the banquet hall. It will be well worth while to see and hear the man who has built up the Boy Scout movement until today it stands without a peer in the field of recreational education and is endorsed by practically all of the great educators, statesmen, professional men, leaders in industry and lights of prominence in this country.

BOYS' CONCERT BAND DANCE

To be Given This Evening at the U. C. T. Auditorium to Aid in Acquiring Uniforms

Two Committees Selling Tickets for Event Anticipate Large Attendance

A dance for the benefit of the Brainerd Boys' concert band will be given this evening sponsored by the U. C. T. in the U. C. T. auditorium. Hedstrom's orchestra will furnish the music.

Two committees have been selling tickets and report a large sale. The proceeds of the dance will be used to purchase new uniforms for the boys.

The band has been organized three years and contains about 50 members. Six boys, being two tubas, a drum, saxophone, and two clarinet players having been recently added.

According to E. A. Page, director, Brainerd should have a band with a larger membership and with a waiting list of from 25 to 30 boys, and the band is therefore looking for new members who will be eligible to join at any time.

The boys practice every Tuesday evening in the Y. M. C. A. and are preparing for a concert to be given in the first of the new year. Their first concert which was given in the Park theatre under the direction of Prof. Pfock was so well attended and highly spoken of that another successful performance is assured. There is much talent in the band and with the constant practice that the boys have been receiving, their development should be marked.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

Pola Negri

Pola Negri, exotic motion picture tragedienne, has no fad. Or it might be said that she has many if a love of things beautiful, of the best of art and music and jewels can be considered a fad.

But this, with this woman who remains remote, aloof, lonely more than any other in the public eye, is not a passing fancy. "It is her nature."

Miss Negri, when asked by United Press to make known her fad first asked to have the word defined. To her it was not a word of common use. When it was made clear what was wanted, the famous Paramount star answered the question with a graceful sweep of her hand.

She pointed in turn to a bowl of deep, red roses beside her chaise longue, to a rare, first edition on the stand at her elbow and to a grand piano on which was raked Kreisler's "Spanish Lullaby."

"You see," she said, "I like them all. They are my 'fads' if you like."

CRUELTY DID NOT HAPPEN IN COUNTY

Minneapolis Star Wrong in Conclusion That Kruge Family Lived in County

TELLS OF BRUTALITY

Parent Whose First Name Not Given is Charged With Branding His Sons

The Minneapolis Daily Star appears to have been mistaken in location in their sensational story in Wednesday's issue on the alleged brutality of a parent toward his two little boys when they stated that the parents charged with the dastardly deed of branding their two offspring lived near Brainerd.

A thorough investigation by the local and county officials, the county attorney, sheriff, probate court judge, and others, reveals that according to their information the alleged cruelty did not happen in this county. There is not even the name Kruge, the name given in the disclosure by the Star, in the county on the tax lists nor has anyone heard of the name in the county before, county authorities stated.

The Brainerd Daily Dispatch yesterday, trying to locate the home of the Kruge family, if in this district, telephoned County Attorney R. O. Webster, of Hubbard county, who stated after investigation that there had been no such case reported in that county.

The Minneapolis Daily Star story follows in condensed form:

"An amazing story of the branding with red hot irons and the chaining to a shed of two small children by their father, who raised his offspring after the manner of wolves, was revealed in the Twin Cities today."

"Two little boys were found by representatives of The Daily Star following a city wide search, in a home conducted by the Children's Home Society where the tortured children were taken by welfare workers."

"The torture victims are Ernest and Albert Kruge, three and four years old, respectively."

"When brought to the Children's Home they snarled like animals, refused to sleep in a bed, and the oldest climbed radiators and scaled over the tops of bed posts with the agility of a young monkey, following months of cruel, animal-like treatment at the hands, authorities charged, of his father and mother."

"The father, named as the arch torturer, has never been punished for his alleged mistreatment of the children so far as officials of the Children's Home Society could determine."

"The Daily Star learned, however, that the parents reside in a small house adjoining a strip of wilderness north of Brainerd, Minn."

"The father, named as the arch torturer, has never been punished for his alleged mistreatment of the children so far as officials of the Children's Home Society could determine."

PONTIAC SIX—Still Sweeping Toward Unchallenged Leadership

When we say that you can drive a Pontiac Six at fifty miles an hour, for as long as you like—we mean exactly that.

When we tell you it will take you in comfort over roads that would ordinarily tax your endurance—we are simply repeating the statements of owners we know.

CHIEF SCOUT EXECUTIVE WEST HERE TOMORROW

SPEAKS TO BOYS AT DEPOT

Every Man and Woman Interested in Boys is Invited to Attend

Every active boy scout in and around Brainerd and vicinity is brushing up and cleaning his uniform in preparation to give a worthy greeting tomorrow evening to James E. West, Chief Scout Executive of the Boy Scouts of America upon his arrival here at six o'clock. All Scouts, past, present and future are asked to be at the station at 5:50 p. m. and give a rousing welcome to the "idol of three million boys" who has consented to make Brainerd the only city that he is visiting on his journey from Seattle, Wash., to St. Joseph, Mo.

As Mr. West will again continue his trip a few hours after his arrival here it is very imperative that all those who will attend the banquet be at the Chamber of Commerce at 6 o'clock sharp. The banquet is also so timed as to enable all business men to return to their places of business before closing hours.

Wilbur Van Evert, of Crosby, president of the Crow Wing Area Council of Boy Scouts will be the toastmaster and will introduce Carl Zappe, first president of the Crow Wing Area and who, in turn, will introduce Mr. West, the honor guest of the evening. Special music has been prepared and an interesting time is assured.

Advance reports have it that Chief Executive West is a big, broad-shouldered man, having an ideal build for a football player. His eyes are clear and frank and betray the man's ability to size up a situation that needs immediate action and his heavy square jaw speaks of unlimited perseverance.

But notwithstanding the terrific strain under which he is constantly working he is ever the eternal boy. He loves his work, and as his task is concerned with the shaping of the destinies of young America, he must always be young and live and dream the way his charges do. No wonder they call him "the man who never grows up."

He was born an even hundred years after the country gained its liberty, May 16, 1876 is the exact date of his entrance into the mundane battle and Washington, D. C., was the place. So, obviously he started with decided American proclivities. He is the Goethals of American boyhood. He has been responsible for the building of more citizens than any other single individual. He has taken youngsters in the raw from the east and west and north and south, from the congested sections of the big cities and from the loneliest passes of the tiniest mountain hamlets, from villages in Hawaii to the cities of the Atlantic coast and has welded them into solid Americanism.

In his boy scout work he has displayed a never flagging zeal, an enthusiasm, though he has never lost sight of the fact that the execution of a business as vast as the scout movement calls for the most subtle form of practical effort. He is aggressive, alert, able, energetic and resourceful. The extent of his working day is as great as the work which comes before him, and often, after making a mid-night get-away from his office, he will sit down to his desk in his home study and dig away at the pile of correspondence which had come to him during the day.

Every man and woman in the city of Brainerd is invited to attend the banquet, tickets may be purchased from Perry Newton, scout executive or at the banquet hall. It will be well worth while to see and hear the man who has built up the Boy Scout movement until today it stands without a peer in the field of recreational education and is endorsed by practically all of the great educators, statesmen, professional men, leaders in industry and lights of prominence in this country.

GEMMELL DELAYED WHEN CAR IS DERAILED

W. H. Gemmell, president and general manager of the Minnesota & International Railway, arrived in his special coach on the 3:20 a. m. train number 33, Tuesday morning. He came from headquarters at Brainerd and was going to look over the company's logging business at Red Lake. The company is hauling logs from near Red Lake this winter.

Because of the logging train being derailed in Bemidji, the logging special to which his car was to be attached was late, and the railroad executive remained in Bemidji all day Tuesday, leaving in the evening for Brainerd.

A. L. Molander, general manager of the Minneapolis, Red Lake & Manitoba Railway had made plans to accompany Mr. Gemmell to Red Lake.—Bemidji Daily Pioneer.

BOYS' CONCERT BAND DANCE

Two Committees Selling Tickets for Event Anticipate Large Attendance

A dance for the benefit of the Brainerd Boys' concert band will be given this evening sponsored by the U. C. T. in the U. C. T. auditorium. Hedstrom's orchestra will furnish the music.

Two committees have been selling tickets and report a large sale. The proceeds of the dance will be used to purchase new uniforms for the boys.

The band has been organized three years and contains about 50 members. Six boys, being two tuba, a drum, saxophone, and two clarinet players having been recently added.

According to E. A. Page, director, Brainerd should have a band with a larger membership and with a waiting list of from 25 to 30 boys, and the band is therefore looking for new members who will be eligible to join at any time.

The boys practice every Tuesday evening in the Y. M. C. A. and are preparing for a concert to be given in the first of the new year. Their first concert which was given in the Park theatre under the direction of Prof. Pfluck was so well attended and highly spoken of that another successful performance is assured. There is much talent in the band and with the constant practice that the boys have been receiving, their development should be marked.

FADS OF THE FAMOUS

Pola Negri

Pola Negri, exotic motion picture tragedienne, has no fad. Or it might be said that she has many if a love of things beautiful, of the best of art and music and jewels can be considered a fad.

But this, with this woman who remains remote, aloof, lonely more than any other in the public eye, is not a passing fancy. It is her nature.

Miss Negri, when asked by United Press to make known her fad first asked to have the word defined. To her it was not a word of common use. When it was made clear what was wanted, the famous Paramount star answered the question with a graceful sweep of her hand.

She pointed in turn to a bowl of deep, red roses beside her chaise longue, to a rare, first edition on the stand at her elbow and to a grand piano on which was raked Kreisler's "Spanish Lullaby."

"You see," she said, "I like them all. They are my 'fads' if you like."

CRUELTY DID NOT HAPPEN IN COUNTY

Minneapolis Star Wrong in Conclusion That Krue Family Lived in County

TELLS OF BRUTALITY

The Minneapolis Daily Star appears to have been mistaken in location in their sensational story in Wednesday's issue on the alleged brutality of a parent toward his two little boys when they stated that the parents charged with the dastardly deed of branding their two offspring lived near Brainerd.

A thorough investigation by the local and county officials, the county attorney, sheriff, probate court judge, and others, reveals that according to their information the alleged cruelty did not happen in this county. There is not even the name Krue, the name given in the disclosure by the Star, in the county on the tax lists nor has anyone heard of the name in the county before, county authorities stated.

The Brainerd Daily Dispatch yesterday, trying to locate the home of the Krue family, if in this district, telephoned County Attorney R. O. Webster, of Hubbard county, who stated after investigation that there had been no such case reported in that county.

The Minneapolis Daily Star story follows in condensed form:

"An amazing story of the branding with red hot irons and the chaining to a shed of two small children by their father, who raised his offspring after the manner of wolves, was revealed in the Twin Cities today."

"Two little boys were found by representatives of The Daily Star following a city wide search, in a home conducted by the Children's Home Society where the tortured children were taken by welfare workers."

"The torture victims are Ernest and Albert Krue, three and four years old, respectively."

"When brought to the Children's Home they snarled like animals, refused to sleep in a bed, and the oldest climbed radiators and scaled over the tops of bed posts with the agility of a young monkey, following months of cruel, animal-like treatment at the hands, authorities charge, of his father and exact whereabouts of the father and mother of the two children was being withheld today pending further investigation into the amazing case."

"The Daily Star learned, however, that the parents reside in a small house adjoining a strip of wilderness north of Brainerd, Minn."

"The father, named as the arch torturer, has never been punished for his alleged mistreatment of the children so far as officials of the Children's Home Society could determine."

County Agent E. G. Roth today stated that there was no hog cholera at present among the hogs in the county, following an investigation of different farms after the breakfast of the disease on a farm near Pilsbarger in which 32 hogs out of 35 were affected.

Mr. Roth further stated that he believed there was no cause for alarm in this county but urged that special caution be taken by the farmers in the prevention of the disease.

The Echo Stock farm are at present weighing hogs for the State Ton Litter contest which is to be held soon.

BANKERS, RAILROAD OFFICIALS,
LAWYERS LEAVE FOR BUTTE, MONT.

EXPECT SOME SPIRITED BIDDING
AMONG THE SEVERAL FACTIONS

By BERT M. DENBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Nov. 19.—Representing probably a quarter of a billion dollars in purchasing power, bankers, railroad officials and lawyers will depart from here tonight for Butte, Mont., to compete with each other next Monday at the auction sale of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway in Butte, Mont.

Present indications point to spirited bidding among several factions with the New York Bankers' Reorganization Committee, backed by Kuhn Loeb & Co., and the National City Bank, which holds a majority of bonds in its possession, having a slight edge.

A strong opposition group headed by Edwin C. Jameson, with many millions at stake in the receivership of the road, is expected to be a strong bidder for part or all of the property of the great railroad system which is to be sold in five parcels at an upset price of $122,500,000 subject to refunding mortgage, liens and taxes.

Anticipating strong opposition the reorganization committee bidders are expected to be taking along a trunk load of bonds to raise the price to any point necessary to obtain the property.

Judge James H. Wilkerson, judge of one of the Chicago federal courts, will approve or reject the sale.
The C. M. & St. P. was thrown into receivership several months ago and since that time many charges have been made that the road was capable of operating on its own at the time a receiver took it over.

However, these were answered with statements that pressing obligations necessitated the receivership.
Several groups of bondholders made charges that a conspiracy between New York bond houses with some officials of the road resulted in the receivership.

These charges prompted an interstate commerce commission investigation of the receivership. This investigation is still in progress.

The St. Paul, one of the northwest's greatest roads, spreads its tracks over the western country in a net-like system that makes it one of the most important transportation lines in the west.

MEXICANS DEPRECATE "SHAME-

By A. W. FOLGER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Mexico City, Nov. 19.—An angry editorial in which the newspaper Excelsion discussed United States and Mexican relations with Nicaragua today was interpreted by some observers to have semi-official status and to be the prelude to severance of diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States.

So far there have been no official statements regarding the United States' allegation that Mexicans have violated their international obligations by assisting the liberal revolutionary party in Nicaragua, except Foreign Minister Saenz' denial that there had been any official Mexican assistance afforded the revolutionists.

"The authors of the shameful Bryan-Chamorro treaty," said the Excelsion, referring to a treaty negotiated with Nicaragua while the late W. J. Bryan was secretary of state, "has been sustained in power through the armed aid of the United States."

TRUNK HIGHWAYS GENERALLY FAIR

Freezing weather following three days of rain left the unsurfaced portions of the Minnesota trunk highways rough, but the gravelled roads are generally fair or better, according to the weekly condition report issued by the Minnesota Highway department today.

All parts of the state had more or less snow, and in the north central portions drifts blocked many roads Wednesday and Thursday but maintenance forces promised to have them open today. Unless more snow comes, all trunk routes should be passable or better over Saturday and Sunday.

Detailed reports of the so-called Babcock roads marked with the official yellow star follow, insofar as they refer to the Brainerd region:

MAY MARK SITE OF INDIAN MASSACRE WITH MONUMENT

Sunburg, Minn., Nov. 19.—(UP)—
A movement to build a monument marking the scene of the West Lake massacre August 20, 1862, when 13 persons were killed by Indians will be given impetus at a meeting in the Sons of Norway hall here Saturday.

The state of Minnesota built a monument in the Lebanon cemetery at New London, whence the bodies of the victims were removed in 1891, but there is no marker at the scene of the massacre.

Plans for a drive to raise funds for a memorial will be considered at the meeting which is in charge of Ols Ellingboe and S. A. Syverson.

Knees Were Swollen --He Found Relief

Gentlemen: I have not been able to get around only to creep for five years, until I got hold of Joint-Ease and I now can walk where I please.
My knees were swollen and my legs all the time. Now the pain has left and the swollen legs are normal and I recommend Joint-Ease highly. I have used two tubes.

Truly yours, W. J. Roy, Morgantown, W. Va.

A tube costs but 60 cents at John-

PUT CREAM IN NOSE
AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments.
Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm.
Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable. —Advt.

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble
Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Menthosulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear

EXPECT SOME SPIRITED BIDDING
FACTIONS

By BERT M. DENBY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, Nov. 19.—Representing probably a quarter of a billion dollars in purchasing power, bankers, railroad officials and lawyers will depart from here tonight for Butte, Mont., to compete with each other next Monday at the auction sale of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul railway in Butte, Mont.

Present indications point to spirited bidding among several factions with the New York Bankers' Reorganization Committee, backed by Kuhn Loeb & Co., and the National City Bank, which holds a majority of bonds in its possession, having a slight edge.

A strong opposition group headed by Edwin C. Jameson, with many millions at stake in the receivership of the road, is expected to be a strong bidder for part or all of the property of the great railroad system which is to be sold in five parcels at an upset price of $122,500,000 subject to refunding mortgage, liens and taxes.

Anticipating strong opposition the reorganization committee bidders are expected to be taking along a trunk load of bonds to raise the price to any point necessary to obtain the property.

Judge James H. Wilkerson, judge of one of the Chicago federal courts, will approve or reject the sale.

The C. M. & St. P. was thrown into receivership several months ago and since that time many charges have been made that the road was capable of operating on its own at the time a receiver took it over.

However, these were answered with statements that pressing obligations necessitated the receivership.

Several groups of bondholders made charges that a conspiracy between New York bond houses with some officials of the road resulted in the receivership.

These charges prompted an interstate commerce commission investigation of the receivership. This investigation is still in progress.

The St. Paul, one of the northwest's greatest roads, spreads its tracks over the western country in a net-like system that makes it one of the most important transportation lines in the west.

By A. W. FOLGER
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Mexico City, Nov. 19.—An angry editorial in which the newspaper Excelsion discussed United States and Mexican relations with Nicaragua today was interpreted by some observers to have semi-official status and to be the prelude to severance of diplomatic relations between Mexico and the United States.

So far there have been no official statements regarding the United States' allegation that Mexicans have violated their international obligations by assisting the liberal revolutionary party in Nicaragua, except Foreign Minister Saenz' denial that there had been any official Mexican assistance afforded the revolutionists.

"The authors of the shameful Bryan-Chamorro treaty," said the Excelsion, referring to a treaty negotiated with Nicaragua while the late W. J. Bryan was secretary of state, "has been sustained in power through the armed aid of the United States."

Freezing weather following three days of rain left the unsurfaced portions of the Minnesota trunk highways rough, but the gravelled roads are generally fair or better, according to the weekly condition report issued by the Minnesota Highway department today.

All parts of the state had more or less snow, and in the north central portions drifts blocked many roads Wednesday and Thursday but maintenance forces promised to have them open today. Unless more snow comes, all trunk routes should be passable or better over Saturday and Sunday.

Detailed reports of the so-called Babcock roads marked with the official yellow star follow, insofar as they refer to the Brainerd region: T. H. CLAIM REVOLT IN BRAZIL PROVINCE STOPPED

Rio De Janeiro, Nov. 19.—(UP)—The government announced today that revolutionary disorder in the state of Rio Grande Do Sul had been suppressed.

The government announcements said that the revolutionary movement had been limited to minor officers. It began Nov. 14 at San Gabriel, Bage and Santa Maria because the troops had not received their pay.

Rio Grande Do Sul, the southernmost of Brazilian states, was quiet today, the announcement said.

TRY SULPHUR ON AN ECZEMA SKIN

Costs Little and Overcomes Trouble Almost Over Night

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying Mentho-Sulphur, declares a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment without delay. Sufferers from skin trouble should obtain a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist. —Advt.
